ESTAB. 1927—VOL. 4—NO. 118 FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1929 THREE CENTS

Today

One Active City.
Farewell, Chicago May.
Men of Three Wars.
Big Marriage Problem.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CHICAGO, May 31.

HOT in other places, not here, thanks to the big lake, cooling winds that blow over it. Gigantic buildings going up, including one with more floor space than in any other ever built on earth. James Simpson, who owns Marshall Field & Co., is building that, with railroad tracks under it, the Chicago River beside it, leading out to the lakes and oceans.

CHICAGO'S "I will" has not died out. Buildings that amazed the world by their heighth and size a few years ago are coming down to make room for bigger buildings. In public improvements, Chicago is ceaselessly active, with parks, playgrounds, and bathing beaches that set an example to other cities. Great areas are reclaimed from the lake. And the scheme for development on the lake front, exceeds, in scope and beauty, anything done in America.

ALL this does not interest Thomas McElligott, carried out of a grill room, alias speakeasy, on West Madison street early yesterday morning. His career as a racketeer ended when one of three bullets, fired into him, went through his heart. Chicago gangsters, as a rule, observe the etiquette of their profession, killing only other gangsters.

"CHICAGO MAY" CHURCHILL died in the Philadelphia General hospital yesterday, aged 52.

Her life offers to scenario writers an exciting moving picture, talking, singing, shooting and popping. May was queen of Chicago's underworld when it was a real underworld and five dollars a bottle for champagne seemed a great deal.

A lady of power, she married several, knew many others intimately and was about to marry again when "death claimed her," as reporters put it.

FRANCE put one of her most intimate friends, Eddie Guerin, on Devil's Island, with other convicts. Chicago May took a yacht, some money and rescued Guerin by bribery.

Miss May, at 15, married a bank robber, Del Churchill, in Nebraska and when he was killed, by the sheriff, her active life began, on Chicago's levee. Chicago papers give her biographies longer than Prof. Michelson will get. The public understands Chicago May and her long sealskin coat. It can't understand Michelson's interferometer.

IN Memorial processions yesterday marched men of three wars. Young men from the big war, men of middle age from the Spanish War, a few very old men from the Civil War, heard speeches and marched to music.

How many more wars must come? How many millions will be shot, blown up, gassed, drowned, or die of disease to the spending of billions, before war goes to join cannibalism and slavery? Nobody knows. But every child might know that the way to avoid war, is to be ready for it. "Build up your strength that you may successfully resist disease," says the gentle pacifist to his children. Why not say to the nation: "Build your strength, that you may resist attack." To be strong does not invite disease or war.

BRITAIN has a problem more serious than the election, unemployment and German reparations, combined. Two million British girls, excess of females over males, are told bluntly:

"You cannot hope to be married. Not enough men to go around."

THE girls ask: "Then what are we to do?" A difficult question. Some might see in it the hand of Providence. Many men out of work, 2,000,000 unable to increase the idle population. But a woman unmarried and childless cannot be happy, although she may make the best of it. One baby means more to a good woman than 10 careers. Sometimes she does not know it until she gets the baby.

AFTER great wars in old Europe, polygamy was established not officially, but by passive acquiescence, as some parts of this country now establish bootlegging. Religious forces did not approve or rebuke irregular arrangements, simply ignored them. Gradually the balance was re-established. That may come again. There is only one life for a woman.

A HUNDRED AND FORTY THOUSAND people watching the automobile race at Indianapolis saw a driver killed, soon after the race started. Only 24 years old, Bill Spence, of Los Angeles, is said to have been as reckless a driver as was Capt. Rickenbacker himself in old days when he drove racing cars, before he raced with German fighters in the air.

Spence's car turned over on "death run." It cannot be said that his life was wasted, or that the 500-mile speed race is useless. It develops better engines, wheels, metallic combinations. Some are killed, millions later live more safely.

JAILED WOMEN EXPOSE VOTE FRAUD

Parents Win Short School Day

UNNERVED BY JAIL LIFE, 4 DISCLOSE CHEATING

Mrs. Susan Uhrin, Homestead election board clerk, who was sentenced to jail with three other women Wednesday, tomorrow morning in open court "will tell everything" about the vote cheating by the election board of which she was a member, it was announced today by Judge James H. Gray.

Judge Gray, who sentenced the women, said "a startling story will be told" by Mrs. Uhrin who agreed to talk after questioning today in the district attorney's office. The four women were quizzed by Judge Gray, and Assistant District Attorneys Andrew T. Park and Roy T. Clunk.

BACK TO CELLS

After the questioning the women were returned to jail. The four, Mrs. Uhrin, Mrs. Marie Etherington, Mrs. May Forgast and Mrsfl Jeanette Samuels, were sentenced to 30 days each, in jail by Judge Gray, after they pleaded guilty Wednesday to making false returns in the William S. Vare-William B. Wilson senatorial fight in 1926.

MAY WIN PAROLE

Intimations were given that the women likely would be paroled after they had told their story in open court.

Entering the courtroom jauntily Wednesday, the women became hysterical when the court pronounced sentence.

Today Mrs. Uhrin, clerk in the Second District, Second Ward, Homestead, asked that Assistant District Attorney Clunk come to see her in jail.

In a few minutes, Mrs. Uhrin, Mrs. Etherington and Mrs. Forgast, inspectors on the same board with Mrs. Uhrin, and Mrs. Samuels, clerk of the First District, Second Ward, Homestead, left their cells for the court house, where they made their statements.

Details of the disclosures made by the women were not divulged.

When arraigned Wednesday, John Forgast, husband of Mrs. Forgast, who was judge of election in the Second District, was sentenced to four months in the workhouse and parole for the remainder of a four-year term. Michael Bretz, a clerk, was paroled for two years.

Forest Fires Cost 100 Lives in Japan

TOKIO, May 31.—(AP.)—Japanese residents of Southern Saghalien Island fought today for their lives and their homes against forest fires which were believed to have killed 100 persons and burned more than 1,000 houses.

Communications on the Island were badly crippled, with railways blocked, telegraphs and telephones down, and only meagre reports were obtainable.

Heiress, 16, to Aid Brother in College

ALLIANCE, Neb., May 31.—(AP.)—Leon Warren, 18, who shined shoes to help pay his way through high school, is to be given a university education at the expense of his 16-year-old sister Lucille, who from an orphans' home was adopted by the late S. D. Strother, Oklahoma oil man, and inherited his millions.

DOROTHY HERMAN

SLEUTH'S HOME GIRL'S REFUGE

Alone in Pittsburgh and without a place to spend the night, Dorothy Herman, 17, sought shelter at the home of City Detective John Barry last night. She was permitted to remain over night in Barry's home in Halket street, Oakland, and this morning was turned over to the Missing Persons Bureau.

Dorothy first told police she had run away from her home in Canton, O., but later said she lived in Wellsburg, W. Va. She said she came part way to Pittsburgh with a boy friend who was driving to a nearby race track, and later obtained another lift into the city.

LINDY IN SOCIAL REGISTER

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP.)—The Evening Post says today that the name of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, which has been blazoned on the first page of every newspaper on earth, will next month be printed for the first time in the more exclusive pages of the Social Register.

The entry in the summer edition, it was said, would read:

"Miss Morrow, Anne Spencer (Dwight W.) married at Englewood, N. J., May 2. Lindbergh, Col. Charles A."

This would follow the policy of the social register to record the marriage of one already listed, as Mrs. Lindbergh was. Continuation of listing of the person to whom the social registerite was married in later editions is in the discretion of the committee which passes upon qualifications.

It was generally believed that Col. Lindbergh would be regularly listed in his own right in later editions.

The four-day-old question: "Where is Col. Lindbergh and his bride?" still remained unanswered today. The 666th clue, and the latest, was that a yacht was seen in the vicinity of the Morrow summer estate at North Haven, Me., but the "yacht" turned out to be a two-masted schooner from Marblehead.

Although the interest of the press and the public has waned in the hideway honeymoon, a casual watch was still being maintained on the flying fields.

RELIEF IN HEAT WAVE HERE PROMISED

Mercury to Drop Between 60 and 65 Tonight After Memorial Day Climb to 93

Appreciable relief from the torrid wave that has resulted in two drownings and one death from heat was predicted today by the weather bureau.

A minimum temperature of between 60 and 65 degrees tonight will be followed tomorrow by a high mark of not more than 75 or 80 degrees, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman. The mark of 93 at 5 p. m. yesterday was the highest for May 30 since 1919.

A northwest breeze today had dropped the temperature seven degrees compared with the same hour yesterday, Brotzman said, when the mercury touched 81 at 2 p. m. The humidty also had declined.

"There is little likelihood of showers," asserted the weather man.

MILLWORKER DIES

The first victim of the present heat wave was reported to the coroner late Wednesday night when John Hura, 39, of 315 Fifteenth street, Homestead, a millworker, died shortly after reaching his home and complaining of feeling ill.

The body of Ellsworth Stevens, 16, of High street, Banksville, who lost his life in an abandoned reservoir at Beadling yesterday afternoon in an attempt to win the admiration of seven school girls who, on a hike, were eating their lunch near the pond, was recovered last night. Stevens went to the reservoir with two companions, Thomas Goughenour and Francis Elder, both of Banksville.

He wanted to show the girls, Marion Lorison, 14, of 3 Amanda avenue; Fern Riske, 14, of Craighead street; Rosemary Horan, 14, of 158 Warrington avenue; Catherine Gideon, 16, of 618 Edgemont street; Betty Steinwender, 830 Industry street, and Ann Fritz, 121 Jucunda street, how long he could stay under water.

FAILS TO COME UP

After a deep breath he dove in. When he did not reappear in 10 minutes the girls ran for help.

His companions hurried to his home and informed the boy's

MOVINGS LOSE METRO VOTES

Thousands of voters in Pittsburgh and other sections of Allegheny County lost their opportunities to express their opinions on the metropolitan district charter by moving on May 1.

Courthouse statisticians estimate the number of Pitsburghers alone who lost their vote in that way at from 10,000 to 25,000. The widely varying estimates are due to the difficulty in ascertaining the exact number of families that moved, the number of adults in each, and the number of adults who were registered voters.

Public utility companies, basing their estimate on service changes requested, say that 21,000 families moved.

The law requires that a voter live 60 days in an election district before voting there. This means that all who changed their residence on moving day, May 1, or afterward, are barred from the charter election on June 25.

Those who moved on or before April 25 will have an opportunity to change their registration. If they are residents of the first 30 Pittsburgh wards they must personally appear at the office of the Registration Commission, Court House, before June 15, bringing with them a tax receipt paid since June 25, 1927. Residents of the new Thirty-first Ward will have a special registration day on June 5. A special registration will be held the same date in McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton. Only those voters who were qualified last year will be able to take advantage of these opportunities.

Britain Alarmed by Ruler's Secret Illness Suffered Following Queen's Picnic

By CHARLES A. SMITH.
International News Service.

LONDON, May 31.—Agog over one of the bitterest elections in recent British history, the populace of England was shocked today to learn that its sovereign, King George V, had suffered a serious relapse and was in danger of losing the ground so painstakingly gained following his critical illness from pleurisy and empyema.

An abcess has complicated the latest illness of King George, it was revealed this afternoon when the following medical bulletin was issued.

PASSES FAIR NIGHT

"The King has had a fair night. An abcess formed under the site of the old scar on the right side of the chest and is now draining. The general conditions remains good. Though the King will need to remain in bed, his majesty will be able to transact public business."

The bulletin was signed by H. L. Marlyn, surgeon apothecary to the King's household at Windsor; Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson, of Penn.

The King, it was learned, was stricken following a garden party near Windsor Castle, where he and the Queen have been staying since their return from Bognor, on the Sussex coast.

CONFINED TO BED

His Majesty is confined to his bed, suffering from cold complicated by fever, and some new infection, not apparent in the malady from which he had all but recovered, is believed to be present.

Doran Crimps Plan For Student Sleuths

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP.)—Taking cognizance of reports that Brown University students had been offered $5 a day to act as undercover agents for the prohibition bureau, Commissioner Doran has written a letter to J. S. Ellis, prohibition administrator in charge of Rhode Island territory, in which he said that the "special employes" fund from which informers are paid could not be used in the employment of students.

Glass Would Tax Some Stock Deals

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP.)—Senator Glass, of Virginia, a former Democratic secretary of the treasury, is contemplating an amendment to the tariff bill to place a tax on speculative transactions in the stock exchange. He has in mind a tax of 5 per cent on dealing in stocks and securities of which the parties selling them had been the owner for less than 60 days.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—(AP.)—Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, will speak at Wilkes-Barre, Sunday night in behalf of the candidacy of Mrs. Sarah Casey, widow of Congressman John J. Casey.

LABORITES WIN IN BRITAIN

LONDON, May 31.—The Labor party held 281 seats in the House of Commons at 6:36 o'clock this evening, with 41 seats out of a total of 615 still to be heard from. The Laborites needed 27 seats out of these 41 to obtain a clear majority.

The standing was as follows:

Labor, 281; Conservatives, 236; Liberals, 50; others, 7.

It was impossible for the Conservatives to reach the Labor figures, thus making it certain that this will be the first time that the Labor party has the largest representation in Parliament. Even the Conservative and Liberal total was only five more than the Laborite figures.

Of the leading figures in Britain's political life, two of them, Stanley Baldwin, the Conservative prime minister, and David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader, had been re-elected by this afternoon.

BUCS GRAPPLE WITH PHILS

In sole possession of first place, the Pirates today were all set to repel the eastern foemen, the first of whom reach Forbes Field this afternoon in the garb of Quakers.

Manager Bush has decided to use Southpaw Larry French in the opening game and it is likely that the Buccos will have to swing against Claude Willoughby, clever righthander.

By dividing a double bill with the Cubs in the Memorial Day baseball program the Buccos were able to stay in first place alone.

Burleigh Grimes rang up his eighth straight victory in the afternoon game as he blanked the Bruins, 4 to 0. In the forenoon contest, Art Nehf won over Remy Kremer, 5 to 1.

40 MINUTES TO BE CUT BY BOARD

Leader in Movement Sees No Objection in Limiting It to Brighter Pupils

The recommendation of the finance and administration board of the Board of Public Education, that the public high school day be shortened by 40 minutes, is very commendable and satisfying, Attorney W. Clyde Grubbs, leader in the fight for shorter school hours, said today.

The cut, it is believed, will be entirely satisfactory to the Pittsburgh Parents Association, the organization that waged the fight for shorter hours here, he said.

The finance and administration board met last night and voted their approval of the 40-minute cut. They then recommended that this be put in force, and their recommendations will be taken up by the school board at the next meeting. The recommendation, however, does not effect teachers, principals, clerks and other employes, or students who fail to maintain their scholastic standing.

This clause in the recommendation is one of its best points, Mr. Grubbs believes. This will stimulate a desire in all students to do their work in the best possible way, so that they might be rewarded by shorter hours at school.

It is a reward for good work and all the students, Mr. Grubbs said he believes, will work hard to get out of school early.

The action of the finance and administration board was the result of repeated demands by teachers and parents that have been made to school board officials for more than three years. The fight started when 40 minutes were added to the school day.

When the fight was at its height several months ago, the school board announced that the children would not be permitted to leave the high school buildings during lunch. This brought more complaints from parents and the school officials compromised by permitting students to use school yards during half of the lunch period.

Terminal Puts Fagan Arrest Up to State

The Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation today filed an appeal to the State Supreme court from the award of $3,000 damages to P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers, for alleged false arrest during the coal strike.

Coal and iron police, who detained Fagan, are agents of the state, the coal corporation contends, and it disclaims responsibility. Fagan originally was awarded $5,000 by a jury, but Judge James H. Gray reduced it to $3,000.

Browning to Stage Realty Party in Madison Square

By DAVID P. DENTNER.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Edward W. ("Daddy") Browning, whose public entertainments from time to time have attracted public attention, today announced the realization of a long-simmering ambition.

Browning has hired "the entire arena" of Madison Square Garden for a party on June 17.

It will be a real estate party—to auction off 58 pieces of Browning's property, valued by him at $5,000,000. The receipts will go to the Browning Foundation. Browning recently announced the foundation would aid various welfare works for children.

Loud-speakers will be used by the auctioneer.

Ushers will be stationed at strategic points in the auditorium to assist those who show any economic interest in the proceedings. Telephones will be available here and there to telephone bids.

Auctioneer Joseph P. Day will use a five-pound hammer against a special sounding board, so that the opening and closing of the bidding may be heard round the world.

The properties will be sold at the average rate of one every four minutes—it is hoped.

SLEUTHS SIFT MYSTERY IN EAST END MAN'S DEATH

VICTIM SHOT FATALLY AT HOTEL

Girl Finds Fiance, Bullet Wound in Head, in Room At Washington Hostelry

Washington County detectives today were continuing their investigation into the mysterious death yesterday in a Washington, Pa., hotel of Walter P. Willman, 33, of 4815 Friendship avenue. He was found dead in a room in the Forest Inn, where he had stopped the night before on his way to Wheeling to attend the horse races.

Miss Martha Snyder, 27, his fiancee, who motored with him, received no response when she knocked at the door of his room yesterday morning, and forcing the door, found Willman with a bullet wound in his head. He was removed to a hospital where he died early in the afternoon. County detectives believe Willman committed suicide. Miss Snyder was not held.

Willman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Willman, were unable to account for the tragedy, and expressed the belief that their son had been accidentally shot.

Willman was employed in the office of the Atlantic Refining Company in the Chamber of Commerce Building. He and Miss Snyder had been engaged for some time, and recently had procured a marriage license, it was said.

Although the sun shone brightly, there was a brisk wind, but at the time the weather was not deemed in any way likely to endanger His Majesty's health. The fact that he was stricken in such circumstances chilled the hearts of the British people, as it indicated he had by no means regained his usual health, in spite of the fact his period of recuperation was considered almost completed when he left Bognor three weeks ago.

The Prince of Wales was at Southhampton today attending a royal counties agricultural show. He has a number of engagements for next week. Apparently there have been no alterations in his plans.

MacDonald For Funding British War Debt to U. S.

By HARRY R. FLORY,
International News Service.

LONDON, May 31.—While returns from the British general election poured in from all parts of the British Isles today, indicating a landslide to Labor unprecedented in history, Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor party and probably the next prime minister of England, outlined to International News Service the principles upon which a government formed by him would stand.

Briefly, these would be:

To abide by war debt settlements already made, with particular reference to the agreement for the funding of the British war debt to the United States, based on the Balfour note;

Furtherance of world disarmament, in accordance with the recent pronouncements made at Geneva by United States Ambassador to Belgium Hugh Gibson;

Opposition to the retention of the British army of occupation in Germany.

In his public speeches during the pre-election campaign MacDonald always made it clear that while the Labor party would have preferred a general cancellation of all war debts, the party certainly entertained no intention of repudiating debt settlements already made.

He also made it clear that the Labor party had no intention of initiating any move to secure a revision of those settlements.

Since the French government, however, has not yet ratified the plan for the settlement of her debt to Britain, the Labor party would consider itself free to reopen negotiations with France. In this case, it was pointed out, Labor would not necessarily bind itself to follow the policy laid down by Earl Balfour, or collecting from Britain's debtors only what was required to repay Britain's debt to the United States.

net and one of the chief figures in the Conservative party, was re-elected for the Eppino division of Essex.

Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer in the MacDonald Labor government, was re-elected in the Colne Valley division, Yorkshire.

Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Labor leader, was returned to Commons, turning the tables on his old rival, Sir Ellis Hume Williams, who defeated him last year.

Col. Wilfrid Ashley, minister of transport, was returned by a 10,000-vote margin, while Sir John Gilmour, secretary of state for Scotland, had the wide margin of 12,000.

Jack Jones, the fiery Labor leader, was successful at West Ham.

Walter Runciman, one of the Liberal leaders, was re-elected.

NINE WOMEN ELECTED

There were eight women in the recently dissolved Parliament, but already today at least nine were in the new Parliament, of whom six were elected on the Labor ticket. The women returned thus far were the American-born heiress, Lady Astor, whose plurality was cut to a bare 211, and the Countess of Iveagh, who also was re-elected.

The Laborite women members elected were Ellen Wilkinson, Margaret Bondfield, Susan Lawrence, Lady Cynthia Moseley, Mrs. Mary Hamilton and Miss E. Picton Turberville.

The ninth woman was Megan Lloyd George, returned as a Liberal.

KLAN BRANDED DESPOTIC

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 31.—The National Ku Klux Klan was denounced here today as the most despotic institution in the history of the United States.

The attack was made before Judges Wooley, Sairs and Relistab in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by Van A. Barrickman, a Pittsburgh attorney. The case was held under advisement.

A month ago Judge W. H. S. Thomson, in the Pittsburgh United States District Court, threw out of court two suits, one a petition by the National Klan to enjoin 35 Pennsylvania Klan chapters from using the name Ku Klux Klan—the other, a countersuit by these chapters, asking the court to appoint a receiver for the Klan in Pennsylvania, alleging dues were being used illegally by the national body.

RAPPED BOTH SIDES

Judge Thomson declared each side came into court "with unclean hands," and refused to allow the proceedings to continue. A reversal of this stand was requested of the higher court today.

John H. Connaughton, representing the National Order of Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, asking for a reversal of Judge Thomson's opinion, claimed the alleged "unclean hands" were imporperly cited as ground for refusal to consider the case.

All the bombings, tar and featherings attributed to the Klan at large, he said, had been proved to be individual actions, and not those of the Klan.

Representing the protesting Pennsylvania Chapters, Mrs. Barrickman then addressed the court:

"The banishment of myself and other members of the Klan is a side issue of the big show, and a part of a great criminal scheme by the men now running the Klan.

"The Klan was founded originally in Georgia as a charitable and benevolent institution, but now it is an abominable institution, and it is antagonistic to the country. We few Klansmen cannot stand silently by, even if we are in this rotten bunch.

"The Klan has collected $20,000,000 from a lot of unfortunate men, and that has not been spent according to the original plan calling for a fraternal, benevolent and benefical order. Today the Klan is the most despotic institution in the history of the United States. It is encouraging criminals and decent citizens are being banished from the Klan."

The case was held under advisement.

U. P. ASSEMBLY VOTES MERGER OF SCHOOLS

Pittsburgh Seminary Will Absorb St. Louis Institution; Plant There to Be Sold

A merger of the Xenia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, with the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary was unanimously approved at today's session of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, meeting in North Church, Perrysville avenue.

Under the terms of the merger, Xenia Theological Seminary will be discontinued. The plant is to be sold and faculty and students will come to Pittsburgh. Whether the merger will involve an enlargement of the plant of the Pittsburgh Seminary, was not disclosed, but it was indicated as very likely that the larger quarters would have to be provided for in the near future.

EARLY ACTION

The actual merger probably will take place before the meeting of the next general assembly. Under the new plan, the merged school will function under the direction of the general assembly instead of the present controlling synods.

Action on a merger of the denomination with the Presbyterian Church in the United States, better known as the Southern Presbyterian Church, will be taken by the assembly tomorrow. The proposal is expected to meet favorable consideration. Numerous presbyteries have already presented memorials urging the union.

A proposal that the denomination break away from the Federal Council of Churches was presented to the assembly yesterday.

It came as a memorial from Argyle (N. Y.) Presbytery, which charged that the council had overstepped its chartered authority in matters of doctrine, and that the sources of income of the council were very much in question, inferring that all its receipts do not come from church sources.

The assembly referred the suggestion to the committee on bills and overtures.

DR. M'NAUGHER MODERATOR

The Rev. Dr. John McNaugher, president of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, was unanimously elected moderator at the opening session Wednesday night. He was nominated by the Rev. E. C. McGowan, of the Mt. Lebanon Church.

Ten memorials from widely separated presbyteries indorsed proposed union with the Northern and Southern Presbyterian churches.

There are no great doctrinal differences in these denominations and their fields overlap considerably, it was pointed out.

RETIREMENT DISCUSSED

The Wheeling Presbytery requested that ministers be retired at the age of 65, but if able, be retained in service to assist newly-formed congregations unable to support pastors. In a paper from Wisconsin the assembly was asked to request that the government conduct an educational program concerning the benefits of prohibition and dangers of law violation.

A popular meeting on foreign mission was held in the evening. The Rev. Dr. J. H. Spencer, of Wooster, O., chairman of the standing committee on foreign missions, presided, and the Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, of Egypt, spoke.

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—(AP.)—Mrs. Norman Kerry, under the name of Rosine Kaiser, has brought suit for divorce, it was revealed when the film actor instructed his attorney here to prepare to contest the suit. Kerry is in New York on a vaudeville tour. Mrs. Kerry's suit was filed April 8.

Mrs. Kerry's complaint charged that Kerry called her uncomplimentary names, that he stayed away from home nights, that he was indifferent to her and that he nagged and insulted her. It set forth that the Kerrys were married February 28, 1920, and had separated November 11, 1928.

Towboat Overturns, Crew Makes Escape

FAYETTE CITY, May 31.—The towboat Vulcan of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, overturned in the Monongahela River yesterday when it was caught in a current near the Vesta tipple. The crew escaped. The boat was backing upstream with seven empty barges when it was overturned, according to officials of the company.

Britain Without Service of King Or Parliament

LONDON, May 31.—(INS.)—Great Britain today is without a king or a parliament.

The renewed illness of King George is essentially unfortunate at the present moment, since the country is without a parliament, whose approval would be necessary is the event a regent had to be appointed to administer the affair of state.

If the Conservatives are defeated in the election, which now appears almost a certainty, the situation will be exceedingly involved even in its present circumstances. It is not known officially whether the present council of state is empowered to receive the resignation of the incumbent cabinet and appoint a new prime minister, a function invariably undertaken by the monarch whenever a new election takes place.

Lettiere was one of a group of boys swimming near the bridge without bathing suits, which are required at that place.

When some one called "here come the police" the boys, among them a brother of drowned youth, scattered. When they returned they discovered the young bather's clothing on the shore, but no trace of the owner could be found.

Publisher Begins 20,000-Mile Flight

CROYDON, England, May 31.—(AP.)—Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher, hopped off at 4:30 a. m. (10:30 p. m., Thursday, Eastern Standard time), on a 20,000-mile tour of the Orient. His ultimate goal is Tokio.

SPEED LIMIT UP, CAUTION URGED

As the new state motor code permitting 40-mile speed in driving, goes into effect at midnight tonight, Coroner W. J. McGregor issued an appeal to motorists to exercise more care in the operation of cars. Beginning tomorrow motorists are allowed 40 miles an hour on the highways.

The coroner's appeal, made in the interests of children playing during the summer vacation, cited figures to show that automobile fatalities among children had more than doubled this year in comparison with the first five months last year.

The coroner in his statement says: "From January 1 to June 1, 1928, there were a total number of 11 fatalities among children from the ages of 1 to 14. In 1929 for the same period there is a total of 26 automobile fatalities among children from the ages of 1 to 14. Considering this age to be the period of irresponsibility, we, who have reached the age of responsibility, particularly those who operate motor driven vehicles, should be mindful and watchful of children as they play on the streets about their homes."

WOMAN OF 71 IN MURDER FARM NET

Victims Required to Take Out Insurance and Then Put to Death, Police Say

MACON, Ga., May 31.—(INS.)—Authorities moved swiftly today against Mrs. J. C. Powers, 71, charged with operating a "murder farm," and Earl Manchester, 21, alleged hired assassin.

Within a few days the charges will be turned over to the Bibb County grand jury. Solicitor General Charles Garrett has summoned a special grand jury for Tuesday to arraign the pair, specifically charged with the murder of James W. Parks, an orphan printer.

YOUTHS ESCAPE TRAP

Following closely her confession and subsequent repudiation that she hired Manchester to slay Parks, on whose life she had a $7,000 double indemnity policy, and whose body was found early in the week in the Ocmulgee River here, the police declared their investigation showed other youth barely missed similar traps.

T. S. Martin told investigators he answered an advertisement for a chauffeur identical to that which young Parks answered a month before. While talking to Mrs. Powers, Martin said, she told him that if he wished to join her "family" he would have to take out life insurance in her favor.

Authorities are looking into the disappearance a few years ago of Claude P. Burham, on whose life Mrs. Powers was said to have obtained a $5,000 insurance policy. F. E. Valentine, of Macon, who sold the Burham policy, was slain under mysterious circumstances some time ago.

FEARS ELECTRIC CHAIR

Mrs. Powers repudiated her alleged confession after she obtained counsel. She sits in her jail cell and moans over and over, "There's nothing ahead of me but the electric chair," her jailers said.

Manchester denied that there was an affair between him and the landlady.

"One kiss was all that I ever got from her," he declared, police say.

PAUL KARL SCHIMMAK STUDYING STARS' CHART

Mr. Schimmak, Washington (Pa.) astrologist who predicted troubles for Gene and Polly, today predicts trouble for Lindy and saying they couldn't have selected a worse time than 4 p. m., 7, for their wedding.

Stars Bode Ill for Match Of Lindy, Seer Avers

Paul Karl Schimmak, Washington (Pa.) astrologist and weatherman who predicted the winner in the Dempsey-Tunney fight and that Gene and Polly were courting "old man hard luck" when they got married, declared today that Lindy and Anne could not have picked a worse day to get married than May 27 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

"There wasn't a good star in the heavens for anybody that day," Schimmak said. "The rising star was the 'Falling Eagle.'

"This star also goes under the name of Lyra.

"The soothing star at the time was Regules, the Leo Heart, which bodes no good for the match of Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh.

"Lindbergh should quit flying before he is 30 years old and settle down on a farm," is what the stars tell him about the famous flier, Schimmak said.

The stars were non-committal on where Lindy and his bride were honeymooning.

4 DIE IN NEARBY WATERS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 31.—Sarch continued today in the Shenango River, near Harbor Bridge, for the body of Walter Miller, 12, who, with his brother, Carl, 10, were drowned at that place early last night. A number of swimming and diving experts answered the call for assistance and spent the night hunting in the waters for the body. The body of the younger brother was recovered within two hours after the tragedy.

MONACA, May 31—The Ohio River was being dragged today for the body of John Elmer, 13, of Atlantic avenue, Monaca, who was drowned near Lock No. 5 despite efforts of his chums to save his life. His companions, Fred Werner, and Albert Kermit, with whom he was swimming, said that they decided to leave the water and were dressing when they saw Elmer sink. Diving in, the pair made a futile effort to rescue him.

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 31.—Unable to swim, Carl Schaefer, 16, high school student, was drowned yesterday when he stepped into a deep hole in Cross Creek, at Goulds, O., west of here. His body was recovered. He was a son of Carl Schaefer, realtor, of this city.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 31.—(AP.)—Several thousand visitors yesterday paid homage to the war heroes of today and yesterday at the National Cemetery of Gettysburg, where more than 3,000 blue and gray-clad soldiers fell in that famous battle that turned the tide of the Civil War.

The Memorial Day address was delivered by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who, in an eulogy of labor's contribution to the prosecution of the internecine strife, appealed to the American people to dedicate themselves to "peaceful abolishment of the last slavery left among us—slavery to poverty, slavery to ignorance and slavery of intolerance."

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 31.—(AP.)—The unluckiest one of nine men is to be executed by a firing squad at the scene of a crime while the eight watch. Ten bandits raided the village of Jesus De Machaca, killing and burning.

HONOR U. S. WAR DEAD ABROAD

PARIS, May 31.—(AP.)—Americans have a solemn duty in striving "to find a way whereby nations may settle their differences other than by force," Gen. John J. Pershing said yesterday in a moving tribute to the war dead at Memorial day services at the Belleau Wood Cemetery.

Nearly every American in Paris attended one of the many services held at the various churhces. The graves of all American soldiers who died in the great war were decorated and a prayor said over them by their late comrades-in-arms or grateful compatriots.

Whether lying in thousands grouped in the magnificently-kept cemeteries at Belleau Wood, Romagne, Fere-en Tardenois, Thiaucourt, Bony and Suresnes or sleeping where they fell along the slopes of war-torn hills, deep ravines or thick forests, all were remembered.

Arranged under the auspices of the American Memorial day association, care was taken that upon every "scattered grave" there rested a bouquet of Flanders poppies.

LONDON, May 31.—(AP.)—American soldiers who fell in the great war and whose bodies rest in England were remembered yesterday by their compatriots and allies alike.

In London the annual Memorial day service conducted by Canon Carnegie was held at St. Margaret's Westminster. It was attended by many Americans including representatives of the American Legion who previously had placed a wreath on the Cenotaph in Whitehall.

HEAT TAKES BIG TOLL IN EAST

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP.)—More than a score of deaths from heat and drownings marked one of the hottest Memorial Days in the East.

Thousands flocked from the sweltering cities to seek relief at bathing beaches, while highways were jammed with automobiles, adding to the toll many deaths and injuries from collisions.

In New York City the temperature rose to 83 degrees, while a humidity of 92 per cent added to the discomfort. Four persons died from the heat, four others were prostrated and there were nine drownings.

It was 96 in Boston. In New England, five persons died from the heat and four were drowned.

At Corinth, near Glen Falls, N. Y., the temperature was 110 degrees. Three drownings occurred in upper New York state.

Three persons drowned in New Jersey. The heat wave extended into Ontario, Canada, with a temperature of 91 degrees at Toronto. In the province there were two deaths from heat and two drownings.

CHURCH MERGER IN SHERADEN

Church union is about to take definite form in Sheraden, where three and possibly five churches may federate and use one house of worship.

The churches which seem certain to unite, if two Presbyteries give consent, are the Sheraden Presbyterian, the Sheraden United Presbyterian and the Sheraden Christian Church. The members of the Christian Church will vote on the amalgamation Sunday.

Each congregation, for the present, would maintain its own identity, but members would meet under one roof and have a common pastor.

The proposed union will be presented to the Pittsburgh Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, and the Monongahela Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church, at their meetings to be held in June.

Two other churches in Sheraden, the Baptist and the Methodist Protestant, are said to be considering a proposal that they participate in the federation experiment. These bodies have not taken action, but discussions have been going on concerning the federation. The three churches likely to consolidate have a combined membership of 1,120.

The Sheraden United Presbyterian Church is without a pastor and the minister of the Christian Church, the Rev. P. W. Gilbert, has tendered his resignation.

'CHUTE SNARLS, JUMPER DIES

SCRANTON, Pa., May 31.—(AP.)—Edgar R. (Red) Enochs, 22, noted daredevil parachute jumper, was hurtled 2,700 feet from the wing of an airplane to his death in a stunt exhibition at the Ackerly speedway dirt track motor races yesterday, when the rings on his parachute "fouled" as he swung into space.

Close to 3,000 spectators gazed upon Enochs as the plane circled the field several times before reaching the geometrical center of the enclosure. Enochs, a white speck outlined against the fuselage, could be seen plainly on the extreme end of the left wing when he climbed out of the cockpit.

The jump-off held the spectators breathless with attention focused upon the springing of the parachute and the expected graceful glide to the ground. Three thousand pairs of eyes followed the white outline through the air in its rapid descent. "He's gone!" was shouted from the mob as he plunged downward and it became apparent that the parachute fouled.

Enochs leaves his parents and a sister at Mullica Hill, N. J., where he made his home.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 31.—(AP.)—A scheduled attempt of Capt. Richard E. Reid, of Chicago, to break the record for a parachute jump yesterday was postponed until next Sunday, when Capt. Reid was unable to obtain a 'chute designed for long jumps. Instead, he gave an exhibition jump for the 5,000 people who had gathered. Going up 3,500 feet, he dropped about 1,500 feet before pulling the rip-cord. He made a good landing.

COUNTY HONORS HEROIC DEAD

Allegheny County veterans of three wars yesterday paid tribute to the memory of their comrades who died under fire, or passed on after the drums of war were stilled. Little mindful of the intense heat they marched long miles to cemeteries, laid flowers on the graves of known and unknown alike, lauded their sacrifices and listened in silence to prayers.

In most instances the veterans of the Civil War rode from their homes in cars, but in scattered cases, they marched with the younger veterans. For instance, there was Peter Guibert, 85, who led the parade from Arch street and Stockton avenue.

SERVICES FOR '98 HEROES

Spanish-American veterans held their services in the South Side Cemetery, where graves of the men who fought at San Juan and in the Islands were decorated. The speaker was County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong.

In the Allegheny Cemetery Posts 3 and 259, G. A. R., held services, the speakers being Commander Joseph Painter, of Post 3, and the Rev. Dr. John Alvin Orr, of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Post 4, G. A. R., had charge of services in St. Mary's Cemetery, where the Rev. James R. Cox made the oration. The G. A. R. post was assisted by the Davis Star Camp, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. Willis Reutzel, of Davis Star Camp, read the orders.

Frank N. Spohn was in charge of services at the Oakland and Minersville Cemetery, the address being given by R. N. Spohn.

LONE SURVIVORS

In Lincoln Cemetery services were under the auspices of Col. R. G. Shaw Post, G. A. R., and Camp 98, Sons of Veterans of the Civil War and auxiliary. Edgar Perkins was master of ceremonies, and the Rev. J. R. Raspass, of the John Wesley Church center, delivered the address.

Veterans of Blawnox and O'Hara Township attended services in Aspinwall where Congressman Stephen G. Porter spoke. More than 5,000 people, including 3,000 school children, took part in services in Oakmont, where the speakers were Dr. B. W. Hutchinson, pastor of the Oakmont Methodist Episcopal Church, and Judge Harry H. Rowand.

Bridgeville's only survivor of the Civil War, "Uncle Bill" Mercer, was the guest of honor at services held in Bridgeville, while John Renton, Wilkinsburg's only survivor, was the honor guest at services in that town, which were held in Woodlawn Cemetery.

The East Liberty, Homewood and Brushton districts held services in Homewood Cemetery.

President of Council James F. Malone laid the cornerstone of the monument for Polish and American veterans at Brentwood avenue in the afternoon.

Artist Who Played 'Adam' Clings to Primitive

SEATTLE, May 31.—(INS.)—A portrait painter whose name was once blazoned on the front page of every newspaper in America for his sensational "Adam" exploits in the Maine and California woods, bobbed up in Seattle today after 15 years comparative obscurity.

He is Joseph Knowles, who has dwelt quietly for 11 years on the south Washington coast. He was in Seattle this week seeking the commission to paint the official state portraits of Gov. Roland H. Hartly and former Govs. Louis F. Hart and M. E. Hays.

Back in 1913 Knowles startled the civilized world by announcing he would go unclothed and empty-handed into the New England woods and live there for two months as a primitive man, fashioning his own rude weapons with which to get food.

Knowles is now nearly 60, but still clings to the belief that civilized man can support himself indefinitely in the wilderness.

"I can go out on Mount Ranier and live there today with none of the trappings of civilization," he said today. "What is food for animals is food for man."

Chicago Gangsters Mark Holiday; Murder Three

CHICAGO, May 31.—(AP.)—Another murder—the third in 36 hours and the mot brutal of the three—was done last night when a man walked up to Ettore Quaterri sitting in front of his little grocery, and fired four bullets into his body.

Quaterri did not die at once. He was conscious when police arrived, and able to talk. But he would not say who shot him; and he denied knowledge of any reason—gang connection, Black Hand threats or personal vengeance—for the shooting.

Yesterday police found the body of Dominick Costa, known as a thief and stool pigeon. He had been done to death in gang fashion—taken for a "ride," beaten, shot and then dumped into a field on Eighty-third street. A few hours earlier Thomas McElligott was killed in a pistol duel in the basement barroom of a downtown grill. McElligott was often arrested in connection with "rackets" and crimes of violence.

The kidnaping, apparently for ransom, of "Kid" Austin was another of the flares sent up by gangsters over the holiday. An anonymous telephone call to the detective bureau said: "Don't worry about that Austin guy. He is just being detained until his friends fix up a purse of $20,000."

KILLED BY OWN REVOLVER

Shot in the heart last night when a revolver dropped out of his holster, William Engel, 40, a watchman at the Arsenal warehouse, 3939 Butler street, died shortly after his arrival at Marine Hospital, police said.

Engel was cranking his motorcycle near the warehouse when the gun fell out, struck the ground and discharged a bullet into his heart. Engel, whose wife is visiting in Norristown, Pa., lived near the warehouse.

DIVORCE HINTED FOR ROGERS'

PARIS, May 31.—(AP.)—Mrs. Henry Huddleston Rogers has taken an apartment in the Champs-Elysees district and friends say that she will sue for a divorce from Col. H. H. Rogers as soon as she has established a residence within the meaning of French law.

Recently Mrs. Rogers has been seen several times with her former son-in-law, Count Ludwig Salm-Hoogstraeten. It was reported today that his present trip to London might have something to do with Mrs. Rogers' business there.

Mrs. Rogers' break with her husband, it was said, came about two years ago when their daughter, Millicent, came to Paris to get a divorce from Count Salm. She came to France about six weeks ago and has been living in a quiet hotel in the Champs-Elysees quarter, while her apartment was being fitted up.

YEARS

To EVERY NEWCOMER to PITTSBURGH

We say, "All Hail—and Welcome!" This, one of the great stores of the nation, is celebrating a birthday with the most important selling event of the entire Pittsburgh year. Regardless of where you have lived—however large the city or how fine the stores which held your loyalty—you have nowhere known an event like this.

Please read the policies which govern it:

Only brand new, fresh, seasonable merchandise is offered during the month—and not clearances, or odds and ends.

All specially priced items remain on sale at the same price throughout the month, or until the entire quantity is sold. If the demand is greater than anticipated, we will endeavor to replace at the Anniversary price.

When comparative prices are quoted they are based on the actual selling prices at the present time.

Anniversary merchandise, no matter how low priced, is fully equal in quality to that which is regularly sold in this store. We do not cut quality in order to cut price.

Opens Tomorrow—9 A. M., June 1—Continues All Month

36 TO SPONSOR BUNYAN DINNER

A facsimile of the original manuscript of "Pilgrim's Progress," reproductions in color of illustrations by Harold Copping, the English painter, 60 original photographs of the places connected with the life of John Bunyan and a facsimile copy of pages from the "Bunyan Meeting Book," with items in John Bunyan's own handwriting, will be included in an exhibit arranged for the Bunyan tercentenary luncheon to be held June 3, at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

The luncheon is under the auspices of a group of 36 local men and women, some of whom are members of an international committee of 1,000, formed to observe the three-hundredth anniversary of Bunyan's birth by promoting the translation of "Pilgrim's Progress" into various languages.

ROTARY SLOGAN NOT CHANGED

DALLAS, Tex., May 31.—(AP.)—Rotarians gathered here at their annual international convention, elected officers, who will be announced today, voted to retain their slogan and decided to hold more conventions in foreign lands.

A resolution declaring that the 1931 meeting, and at least every fourth convention thereafter, should be held outside of North America, was passed.

The delegates refused to abandon the slogan, "He Profits Most Who Serves Best," in spite of arguments from foreign delegates, who said that the slogan, translated into foreign tongues, had a much more commercial connotation than it has in English. The convention also refused the request of English delegates that dues be reduced from $4.50 per annum to $4.

One resolution, very important to Italian clubs, providing that a statement be prepared on the relation of a Rotarian to his country, was passed unanimously. Italian Rotarians, under the Fascist regime, wanted it made clear that their duty to Rotary in no way interfered with their duty to their country.

CRIME PROBERS TAKE RECESS

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(INS.)—President Hoover's crime commission, officially named "the National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement," completed its preliminary organization and arranged a week's recess before settling down to the two-year task of determining what makes the average American so lawless.

The commission was divided into two groups. One, composed of Newton D. Baker, Monte M. Lemann, Henry W. Anderson and Miss Ada Comstock, is to study the cause of crime. The other, composed of Judges Paul J. McCormick, W. S. Kenyon, William A. Grubb, K. R. McIntosh and Dean Roscoe Pound, is to study the remedies. Both groups will report to George W. Wickersham, chairman.

Both groups probably will hold hearings and conduct investigations in the larger cities of the country.

Walked in Sleep, Didn't Desert, His Plea

LONDON, May 31.—(AP.)—The plea that he was sleep-walking was made by George Sivewright, signaller for the Scots Guards, at his court-martial today for deserting his post in front of Buckingham Palace on April 30.

Sivewright gave a great shock to British army traditions by his apparent desertion and it was several weeks later when he turned up at his home several hundred miles away, footsore and weary to greet his mother before giving himself up to the authorities.

He told the court-martial that he did not intend to desert, that he had suffered from sleep-walking, and did not know what he was doing.

2 IN CEMETERY THEFT PAROLED

Stephen and Joseph Zugrovic, brothers, of 430 Flowers avenue, Hazelwood, were paroled for one year when they pleaded guilty today in Criminal Court to stealing flowers and shrubbery from Calvary Cemetery last Easter.

Death and Illness Mar Wheeling Wedding

WHEELING, W. Va., May 31.—Death today marred a wedding ceremony to which more than 1,000 guests had been invited.

Miss Katherine Aul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Aul, died at the Ohio Valley General Hospital. She was to have been maid of honor at the marriage of her cousin, Miss Madelyn Weiss, daughter of William E. Weiss, Saturday to Henry Lane Kinnucan, Detroit business man. ALLIES AGREE TO LIFT LIENS

PARIS, May 31.—(AP.)—Germany and the creditor experts today agreed on the question of lifting the lien on the German railways and on several other German conditions to acceptance of the Young plan.

It was definitely decided also that the question of the reimbursement of Belgium for German war-time marks shall be eliminated from the experts' report, leaving the two governments to negotiate their differences.

Negotiations between Belgium and Germany will begin immediately at Paris. M. Gutt, a leading banker and expert on European finance, will represent Belgium. Germany was expected to name its negotiator later.

There now remain for settlement the question of the moratorium asked by Germany and the manner in which the last 21 annuities shall be paid.

Chicago's German War Vets March Beside Allies

CHICAGO, May 31.—(INS.)—Chicagoans who witnessed the striking Memorial Day parade here, went back to work today convinced that the hatreds of the late World War are forgotten.

The impressive feature of the colorful parade was the presence in the lineup of a contingent of German war veterans, who have since taken up residence in the United States.

They were garbed in their native uniforms, with iron crosses and other emblems of the vanquished Imperial regime. Marching side by side with organizations of the Allied armies, they were well received by the thousands who watched the parade.

Hot, itchy scalp?

—this cools it

If your scalp burns and itches, your hair comes out and you have loose dandruff, give Listerine a trial. If you do not see improvement in ten days you will be an exception. Just douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously. Keep the treatment up systematically. Note how it cleans and heals the scalp, and gets rid of those tell-tale flakes.

Simply Delighted
Experienced shavers are simply delighted with LISTERINE SHAVING CREAM. So cool. So refreshing.

Dandruff, as you know, is caused by germs. And Listerine full strength, while destructive to germs, is at the same time safe to use and actually soothing in effect. Destroys even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and kills 200,000,000 of the Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in 15 seconds. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Missouri, U. S. A.

CHARTER AIDS TRAFFIC

In view of the interest in the forthcoming referendum election for the approval of the Pittsburgh metropolitan charter, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will publish daily brief statements by Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the commission. In this series the provisions of the charter will be set forth in plain language shorn of its legal verbiage.

By JOSEPH T. MILLER, Chairman Metropolitan Plan Commission.

In Article Two of the Metropolitan charter are listed the powers of the Consolidated City.

First in general interest among them comes the power to designate, control and create through-traffic streets wherever necessary in Allegheny county.

Such streets, of course, would not include state highways, state-aid highways, or township roads receiving state reward.

The advantages of having one government in charge of these through-traffic streets can readily be seen.

SPEEDY REPAIRS

Chief among them is the elimination of delay in repairing or otherwise improving such arteries—delay due in no part to the officials of any municipalities affected, but to the complicated legal procedure necessary when, under the present multiple control, more than one city, borough or township shares in the maintenance of a through-traffic highway.

Is it not a fact that today all these municipalities must pass such improvement legislation separately?

Is it not a fact that representatives of these municipalities must confer with each other, draw up agreements, etc., before such work can be done?

All of which, from the very nature of the procedure, requires time.

UNIFORM CONTROL

The Consolidated City plan, as has been pointed out, circumvents this otherwise necessary delay; it circumvents it because singleness of action means rapidity and force whether in government or in business administration.

Along with the control of through-traffic streets would go the power to construct and maintain bridges, viaducts and tunnels connecting such throughfares.

And it naturally follows that the power to make uniform regulations for the control of traffic on all through-highways should be vested in the Consolidated City. This authority is provided in the charter.

TRAFFIC PATROL

Of course, the charter stipulates that any such regulations formulated by the Consolidated City shall not be inconsistent with the laws of the state.

Enforcement of the through-traffic regulations would be the duty of all peace officers of the municipal divisions affected and of the traffic patrol of the Consolidated City.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow)

Voters are invited to propound any proper question regarding the charter and these will be answered promptly if addressed to Chairman Joseph T. Miller 519 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope. Some answers to inquiries of pertinent interest will be published in the Sun-Telegraph.

METRO DEBATE AT GLENFIELD

What promises to be one of the largest community meetings yet held in the interest of the metropolitan charter is set for 8 o'clock this evening in the Glenfield Public School. Among the speakers will be Charles A. Lewis, borough solicitor of Clairton and a member of the Metropolitan Plan Commission, and J. Meryl Silk, of McCandless Township.

The meeting is being held under the auspices of the following citizens' committee: Daniel Waldschmidt, chairman; Mrs. A. C. Bensonhoefer, Mrs. Arthur Capper, W. L. Cramer, Mrs. B. F. Fairfield, Robert Hager, John Hay, William M. Kratzer, Charles Loade, Mrs. Loade, J. B. Losper, Dr. and Mrs. William R. Lyon, Francis Pendred, Paul Richards, George Salapato, Mrs. Salapato, Thomas Wheeler and Mrs. T. E. Wolfe.

Charter meetings will also be held this evening by the Overbrook Board of Trade in the Municipal Building and the West End Board of Trade in I. O. O. F. Hall, 4 Wabash avenue.

Borough solicitors of Allegheny County have been invited to meet with members of the Metropolitan Plan Commission in the William Penn Hotel at 6:30 o'clock this evening. The meeting will take the nature of a thorough discussion of the proposed charter, with the solicitors invited to ask questions on any feature of the charter which may not appear clear. Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the commission, will preside.

The West View Board of Trade is the latest business organization in the county to indorse the charter. The West View resolution states that adoption of the charter assures the continuity of West View Borough, protecting it as a separate municipality so long as its citizens desire it. The charter is indorsed "as a forward step in the program to effect a greater city within the State of Allegheny."

Edison Mine Lamp Doomed in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., May 31.—(A.P.)—Use of electric "bug" safety caplamps in Illinois mines was considered doomed as the result of a vote by the Illinois House of Representatives killing a proposal to allow the lamps in gaseous mines.

The vote was 86 to 9, despite a telegraphed protest from Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the light, that the proposal was a backward step. Claude Rew, of Harrisburg, Ill., sponsor of the bill, declared that the acid in the seven-pound battery of the lamp was dangerous and that the weight worked a hardship on the miner.

A Wonder Cheese Product

Besides being supremely delicious, Velveeta will spread, slice and melt, and do each equally well. This is exceptional in a cheese product. Velveeta is a new idea in cheese making. It contains more of those precious food elements, Vitamins, Lactose (milk sugar), Calcium and other milk minerals than it was possible to include by old methods. All of which give Velveeta a greater food value; and a delicious new flavor.

Use Velveeta wherever you would use any cheese. It spreads like butter or will slice when chilled. It melts, dissolves and blends so readily with other foods that for cooking purposes there is no comparison. It is as digestible as milk itself. It is a wonderful food for children. Try a package.

WEATHER BARS OCEAN FLIGHTS

OLD ORCHARD, Me., May 31.—(INS.)—There was little likelihood that the trans-Atlantic monoplanes Green Flash or Yellow Bird would be able to take off from this beach today on their respective flights.

Following receipt of unfavorable weather reports from Dr. James H. Kimball, New York meteorologist, last evening, both Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, stated that they probably would not take off before tomorrow morning.

Armeno Lotti, backer of the French flight, was to visit Kimball today to plot personally the weather chart in the New York Weather Bureau. Inasmuch as Lotti and his two companions have thus far abided by the decisions of postponements made by Yancey and Williams, it was doubtful that any attempt would be made to start the Yellow Bird in the direction of Paris before tomorrow.

The gas tanks on the Yellow Bird have been completely repaired and two test flights are to be made. If these tests are successful and the motor functions as expected, the plane will once more be refueled for the take-off.

Weather Conditions.

Relatively high barometer covers the Northern Plains states, the Mississippi Valley states, the Ohio Valley states and the lake region, but over much of the greater portion of this area the variation in pressure is only four hundredths of an inch, which is a decidedly flat barometric condition. As a result, there is much cloudiness, and scattered local showers throughout the area. Over the Far West the pressure is low, with a center of disturbance over Idaho. The temperature continues high east of the Mississippi, but over the West it is moderately cool. Temperatures below 50 over the Canadian Border states.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 3.7 feet; Lock No. 7, 19.7; Pittsburgh, 16.2; Dam No. 2, 8.2; Dam No. 6, 15.0; Dam No. 9, 14.9, and Dam No. 12, 13.1. The dams are down.

DR. LITTLE AIDS CANCER STUDY

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS.)—Dr. Clarence Cook Little, whose resignation as president of the University of Michigan takes effect in September, will continue his work in cancer research when he leaves the campus in June.

Dr. Little will take with him a fund which has been provided for the research. International interest has centered in his experiments since he has been connected with the university.

In 1927 a group of Detroiters offered Dr. Little $45,000 annually that he might continue his work. The fund permits him to go wherever he chooses. According to his present plans he will go to Mt. Desert Island, near Bar Island, Me.

Air Mail Business Shows Big Increase

CHICAGO.—(INS.)—Mail and passenger planes of the Robertson Air Lines flew 39,810 miles during March, according to Harlan A. Gurney, operations manager. The total mileage involves more than 443 hours in the air and is exclusive of the passenger hops made over the field and city by the aircraft concern.

The St. Louis-Chicago mail planes were in the air during March, 178 hours 49 minutes and flew 15,770 miles. Approximately 6,731 pounds of air mail were carried over the route in the month.

Judge Tells Witness To Put on Necktie

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(INS.)—United States Judge Henry D. Clayton is a reasonable man concerning male adornment, but the end of his patience was reached here recently when a witness took the stand in his courtroom without wearing coat or necktie.

The federal jurist proceeded to reprimand the witness sharply, telling the surprised man to "buy yourself a dime necktie and a coat. If you can't raise the money for the tie, I'll get it for you."

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A DAINTY FROCK FOR MOTHER'S GIRL.

Crepe de chine was chosen in this instance. One could have plain or printed chiffon or voile or taffeta. The long waist portions are joined to full skirt portions, which are shirred at the sides and back in deep yoke effect. The sleeve may be one in wrist length, or short puff sleeve. A ribbon sash is the only trimming on this pretty model. It is drawn through slashes in the front of the waist.

The pattern for this dress is cut in four sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make a 10-year size with long sleeves will require 2½ yards of material 35 inches wide or wider. If made with short sleeves 2¼ yards will be required. The sash of ribbon requires 2½ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

FILIPINOS MUST STUDY TRADE

MANILA.—The Philippine government will henceforth tell students who are sent to the United States what courses to study. An oversupply of physicians and lawyers in the islands has led to a shortage of technically trained college graduates.

In view of the big demand for technologists and experts in the industrial arts they will be permitted to study only fish, meat and vegetable canning and other such industries.

Heretofore government students, or pensionades, as they are known locally, were free to choose their careers. In most instances they took up law, medicine, education and similar academic courses. Upon returning to the Philippines they found difficulty in obtaining work, since those professions were crowded. Many of them returned to the United States, thus yielding the Philippine government no return for the money spent for their education.

Woman, 81, Guilty For Taking 'Nip'

"NO MEDICINE IN THE WORLD LIKE KONJOLA"

Pittsburgh Lady, Grateful for New Medicine, Relates Her Happy Experience.

What a wonderful thing it would be were it possible to measure all the health and happiness that Konjola, the new and different medicine, has brought into the world! Volume after volume would be required to contain the words of commendation that this master medicine has won from those to whom it has proved a boon after all else tried had failed.

MRS. W. H. ARNOLD

Many marvel at the speed with which Konjola's 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—go to the source and fount of the disease. But that is what a real medicine should do, and Konjola is emphatically a real medicine, one of deeds, not promises. Meet the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. Learn how Konjola cleanses and stimulates the ailing organs, though it contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. Learn how poisons and impurities are swept from the system; learn how and why Konjola conquers the stubborn and defiant cases of long standing. Resolve to be well; decide to give Konjola a chance to end the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, as well as rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. After all, the safest, surest guide is the experience of others who found in Konjola the health that had eluded them for years. Consider, as an example, the experience of Mrs. W. H. Arnold, 933 Warrington Avenue, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"To me there is no medicine in the world like Konjola. I say this simply because Konjola did for me what all the other medicines and treatments I tried could not do, or even start to do. For many years I suffered from stomach trouble. In fact, I was about to give up hope of ever being better. How could I hope for relief after all I tried had failed me, and I kept getting worse? However little I ate gas formed, and acute pain and heart palpitation followed. I had a bitter taste in my mouth all the time, and finally my nerves became so badly affected that I could sleep but little. Needless to say, I was all run-down, and certainly discouraged.

"I decided to give Konjola a trial after I had read a number of indorsements from men and women who suffered as I did, and who found quick and complete relief in Konjola. It was while finishing the second bottle that a great change came over me. I began to feel better in every way, and as the days passed everyone witnessed greater improvement. In three weeks indigestion had disappeared. To my delight I could eat a regular meal without suffering afterward. Konjola renovated my entire system, and I am sleeping fine. My nerves are calm, and daily I can feel myself gaining strength. I expected results from Konjola but nothing so quick and complete as this. No words of mine can express sufficient praise for this master medicine."

Konjola is all medicine, every drop, and every drop works. One does not have to wait long once Konjola takes hold.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

UKULELE IKE TALKS HIMSELF INTO THEATER SEAT; ORCHIDS FOR GRETA

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, May 31.

IT can be done. Last Sunday eve., Cliff Edwards, better known as Ukulele Ike, traipsed to the box office of the El Capitan Theater, where Hal Skelly is starring in "Burlesque."

"Are there two tickets here for Cliff Edwards?" he asked the ticket chopper. It was then 8:30, and the show had started.

The T. C. looked. "No, Mr. Edwards," embarrassed. "Could they have been left under the name of Ukulele Ike?" Edwards admitted the possibility. Still no tickets. Edwards appeared surprised. "That's funny."

Cliff Edwards.

"I'm awfully sorry," the ticket chopper lamented. "There must be a mistake somewhere. I have two seats I was holding for someone else. Will you take these?"

Uke Ike agreed. In he pranced. Saw the show. The next morn, however, he confessed, under friendly pressure, that there was no particular reason why there should have been seats for him. No one had ordered them.

Moo-Moos, Spurs In Film Roundup

CLANKING spurs and booted men of the great Owen Wister outdoors stalk the Famous Players lot these warmish days. "The Virginian" troupe has returned from location at Sonora, Cal., where the pounding round-up scenes were shot. Some thousand head of cattle contributed histrionic assistance in these scenes, direction of Victor Fleming and shouting aids. Directing one cow is bad enough, as any weary megaphoner will reminisce. But one thousand—moo moo!

Gary Cooper.

About the only accident to highlight the trip was when a snake bit a horse. One of the cowboys asked Gary Cooper if his horse was "snake bit." Whereupon Gene Paulette piped up with: "Lawd, brother, we haven't had that kind of a bit in this country for years!"

Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, dropped over to collect their mail at the Famous Players Studio. A property man walked past.

Mack: See that guy? He has a boy with eyes just like his.

Moran: How come?

Mack: He's pop-eyed!

Posies for Greta Come in Car Lots

FROM the hermitic confines of the Greta Garbo mansion seeps word that three times weekly a carload of orchids is delivered to her domicile. They come via a florist from the heart and pocketbook of a mystery man who lives in the West. The chief fault with this specification is the West covers so much territory. The Swedish flame, however, chooses to say no more, other than to opine her "orchid man" must also be a cattleman. That doesn't listen musical to me. But then, one can never tell.

Marion Davies sacrificed last week-end to the camera. Um. Marion did a tap dance and a song ycleept, "Tommy Atkins on Parade," for M. G. M.'s gala "Hollywood Revue of 1929," which opens here at Grauman's Chinese theater on June 14. Marion appeared on the sound stage at 6 p. m. She wore a nifty British Huzzar's uniform. She finished work at 7 a. m. Supporting Miss Davies was a chorus of men, each one exactly six foot and each wearing a Huzzar uniform. Chuck Reisner directed with Supervisor Harry Rapp standing by. The song, by the by, was written for Miss Davies by Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, the lads who wrote "Wedding of the Painted Dolls."

One other sketch will be added to this lavish revue. Norma Shearer and John Gilbert are going to do balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet," first as Bill Shakespeare penned it and then as it would be done today!

Every M. G. M. luminary is in this revue except Greta Garbo. I wondered why she wasn't myself. "What could she do?" a M. G. M.-ite countered. "Well," brilliantly. "She could smoulder in an Elinor Glyn skit." That didn't go so big. Mebbe I better stick to the colyum.

Mabel Presents Screen Ma Goose

There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise.
He went to see a movie,
And scratched out both his eyes.
But when he heard a talkie,
With all his might and main,
He stopped his fingers in his ears,
And prayed for sight again.
—Mabel Livingstone.

SCREENALITIES: JANET GAYNOR enjoyed a day off from the incandescents. Being accustomed to rising at an unearthly hour, she awoke early, but just to prove to herself she was a plutocrat for a day, she stayed in bed 'til 12 o'clock. . . . ESTELLE TAYLOR showing some new photographs to friends and much pleased because in two of them she looked a little like Evelyn Brent. . . . BETTY BRENT, by the by, has started her new flick, which was why she couldn't get to the beach last week, and the weather so lure-y, too. . . CARMELITA GERAGHTY chauffer-ing her dad down Franklin avenue. . . MARIE DRESSLER giving her garden the critical once-over. . . No, GEORGE MORAN, of the Two Black Crows, is not related to Polly Moran. . . And—that's all.

Estelle Taylor.

Pitt Play, Written By Pittsburgher

"Pigs," scheduled as the offering of the George Sharp Players in the Pitt Theater next week, was written by Anne Morrison, in collaboration with Patterson McNutt. Miss Morrison is now Mrs. Newton Chapin, and lives in Pittsburgh.

Steamer Roosevelt In Summer Trips

The excursion steamer, Roosevelt, will begin the summer Saturday and Sunday afternoon excursions beginning tomorrow. The boat will leave the wharf of the former Homer Smith at the foot of Wood street at 2:00 o'clock each afternoon and will make moonlight trips at 8:30 o'clock. The Roosevelt orchestra will play for dancers.

INCHES AND FEET

Barren Pucci, aged 31, figures his height in inches. He is 30 inches tall. Elsa Van Droysen, aged 19, figures hers in feet. She is eight feet and one-third feet tall. Both are featured with the Johnny Jones Exposition.

DANCING SISTERS

The Van Noy Sisters, dancers, appear twice nightly in The Dells, Wildwood, one of the new dinner-dance rendezvous in the Pittsburgh district.

VETERANS TALK TO ROTARIANS

Two Civil War veterans, John L. Hoffman, 91, and John R. Renton, 84, the last of Wilkinsburg's survivors of the War of the Rebellion, spoke at the joint meeting Wednesday of the Wilkinsburg Rotary and Lion's Clubs in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel.

They were introduced by the Rev. R. W. Lloyd of the Edgewood Presbyterian Church, who was the principal speaker at the meeting. The vets talked for 10 minutes.

Mr. Lloyd pointed out the tendency to forget those of other ages in the rush and hurry of the present age. He showed the importance of word done by earlier Americans and stressed the importance of always remembering their greatness.

During the meeting an invitation to the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs of Wilkinsburg, to take part in the open house observance, Monday at 8 o'clock, of the Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf of Edgewood.

Miss Sears Beats Own Walking Records

PARIS, May 31.—(AP.)—After walking 42½ miles in eight hours and 30 minutes, Miss Eleanora Sears, of Boston, felt "fine" today.

The tanned Boston sportswoman and pedestrain started from Fontainebleau at 5:02 a. m. Yesterday and arrived at the Ritz hotel at 1:37 p. m., finishing fresh and chipper as ever. During her hike she took only tea from a thermos bottle provided by friends who accompanied her in an automobile, never slackening her speed.

Her time, an average of about 5 miles an hour, was better than that in previous walks in U. S.

Mrs. Hoover said:

"The President of the United States appreciated the kindliness and the significance of your invitation to him to be with you today and much regretted that the business upon which he is engaged does not permit him to get so far away just now. So by me he sends his greeting on this occasion.

"May your semi-centennials, as they come, mark, each one, as happy a day as this one means to you, and may each one mark a half century of as great achievement as you have made in this past half century."

KEEP UP FIGHT FOR TAX CUT

No lull in interest in the campaign to reduce the federal tax on earned incomes followed the holiday. The signing of petitions continues today with no abatement of the zeal of the thousands of Pennsylvania citizens who are assisting the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph movement in behalf of wage earners.

Since the canvass for signatures has been extended to the various industrial plants, and among the officers and employes of some of the public utilities companies, there is a favorable reaction everywhere to this step, which, it is declared, is certain to result in more prosperous conditions if Congress revises downward the tax on earned incomes.

MORE BUYING POWER

Less federal tax on individuals, first of all, increase the buying power of a community, it has been pointed out by Frank R. Phillips, senior vice president of the Philadelphia Company, and more buying means more production, more employment and more stability in business conditions. The Philadelphia Company is one of the largest public utilities corporations in the country that has given its support to the campaign and its host of employes are signing individually.

In the Beaver Valley the movement is meeting with extraordinary success. The support given by the Beaver County Manufacturers' Association, embracing all the leading industries in that district, and the assistance given by the banks and merchants, have resulted in spirited work for lower taxes.

OTHER SECTIONS ACTIVE

Word from other parts of the country are equally encouraging for those urging an equitable revision of the tax on earned incomes. In cities where other Hearst newspapers are carrying on a similar campaign there is the same interest shown in the signing of petitions. Citizens of Western Pennsylvania and the surrounding territory in West Virginia, Ohio and Maryland are assured that their efforts are backed up by the people throughout the United States.

JOHNSTOWN HIT 40 YEARS AGO

Today, fortieth anniversary of the Johnstown flood, witnesses the collection of many relics of the catastrophe that fell upon the Conemaugh Valley, May 31, 1889.

Although Pittsburghers were first to reach the victims in the devastated region, no observance will be held here, aside from the annual gathering of the survivors of the group of newspapermen who "covered" the disaster. The Johnstown Flood Correspondents' Association [illegible] night in the Keystone [illegible] as the guest of Dr. [illegible]atty.

[illegible]uard of the Pittsburgh relief party was Dr. J. A. Oldshue, police surgeon and one of the most prominent physicians in the state, who established the first relief hospital in the stricken city, according to records which have been unearthed and are being placed on file in the Pennsylvania room of the Carnegie Library. Among the mementos of Dr. Oldshue's service at Johnstown is a certificate issued by the Cambria County Medical Society, the document being in possession of his son, Valentine J. Oldshue, of 6757 Thomas boulevard, a Pittsburgh newspaperman.

Dr. Oldshue used an abandoned beer hall in Bedford street, Johnstown, for his hospital, and divided the men's and women's wards by hanging army blankets from the ceiling. He had as assistants 14 Red Cross nurses.

The Cambria County Medical Society paid effusive compliments to the medical volunteers for their work, this acknowledgement being apart from the certificates issued by the general relief committee at Johnstown.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad on the Johnstown anniversary day have a quiet observance of their own in recalling the work of Robert Pitcairn, then superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, who rushed the first relief train through. The relief party proceeded as far as possible by rail, and then went on foot. At the same time the rivers in Pittsburgh were flooded. The people here fought the incursions of high water and carried on their money-raising campaign at the same time.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS

SIX HURT IN HOLIDAY AUTO MISHAPS

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE bus station in Liberty avenue, across from the concourse of the Pennsylvania Station, is in the building which a relatively short time ago housed the Lafayette Hotel and bar. It was there, many Pittsburghers and visitors to Pittsburgh will agree, that the hot dog and the elongated bun were glorified first in a big way in Pittsburgh. The display of buns on a counter was one of the showplaces to those who like the unusual. The buns were stacked about four feet high on four sides of a square counter. There must have been a thousand or so on display at all times. Handy to the busy depot of the Pennsylvania, the Lafayette attracted a veritable army which ordered a wiener on a bun and a glass of amber to go along.

I mentioned the change the other day to Mr. Bert Taggart and tears filled his sentimental eyes. "Ah, those buns," sighed Mr. Taggart reminiscently, pulling what the French call a double entendre or double meaning.

The French language is easy once you get on to it.

Young gentlemen with an urge to write are constantly asking morgue attaches for material to be fictionized or to be put into a special story. Some of the bloodthirsty and incipient Edgar Allen Poes are always seeking spectacular stories about suicides. The coroner, Mr. McGregor, frowns officially on playing up in any way stories of the unfortunates who, having decided that "not to be" is preferable took the plunge from the bridge or turned on the gas.

THERE is legend around that institution that says a few persons ready to take a dive into eternity have spent, just prior to their demise, many hours studying the gruesome exhibits in the morgue. The coroner probably fears that "suicide" stories suggest the idea to persons reading it. I question that, along with the censorship idea that movies showing crimes and newspapers telling of crimes prompt young gentlemen to crack a safe. I have been immune from such suggestion, possibly, for a sound reason. Even with the combination I can't open my own safe. Consequently I never fail to marvel when I hear that some genius has opened a safe without knowing the combination.

At the request of the boy's mother a city detective here the other evening picked up the boy who had deserted from the Army. The mother wants the boy sent back to be disciplined in the hope he will turn out better than his promise indicates.

Police get, incidentally, $50 for every deserter picked up and turned over to the Army, but by the time the police pay the railroad fare (Columbus is the nearest point the deserters are received) there is little left for the profit column.

THE stores are displaying for the trade picnic plates and paper napkins, against which, curiously enough, there is no law at the present time.

In one of the restaurants downtown, catering to the solid middle class, paper napkins are offered the guests. A linen napkin rents for one cent. And, of course, there are some who, eschewing both paper and linen, simply use their vests.

An indiscreet gentleman, making whoopee, was removed from a ring that cost $1,000, and he couldn't afford publicity. Quietly the police worked on the case, recovered the ring, and the gentleman, so lucky, just said: "Thank you."

THREE SISTERS GRADUATE IN SAME CLASS

Rare Occurrence to Take Place at Exercises to Be Held by Aspinwall High

Three sisters, two of them twins, are among the banner class of 74 seniors to be graduated this year from Aspinwall High School.

The three are Nellie and Josephine Bleeker, twins, and their sister, Marie, all exceptionally bright students, according to their teachers.

Graduation of three sisters in the same class is believed of rare occurrence by F. D. Kaboch, high school principal. Marie, the elder, lost a year in school, which accounts for her being in the same class with her twin sisters.

Baccalaureate services for the graduating class will be held Sunday night, June 9, in the high school auditorium. The Rev. Harry A. Gearhart, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Aspinwall will preach the sermon.

Commencement exercises will be held the following night in the school. The Rev. Dr. Robert MacGowan, of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church will speak. Student orators will be Jean Teats, valedictorian, and Helen Humes, salutatorian.

The class this year is the largest in the history of the school.

21 NURSES TO GET DIPLOMS

Twenty-one graduates of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing will receive diplomas at the annual commencement exercises to be held the night of June 11, in the First Presbyterian Church, Sixth avenue.

Ralph W. Harbison, president of the board of trustees, will preside. The invocation will be by the Rev. Dr. Charles C. Cribbs, of the Ingram Presbyterian Church. The address to the graduates will be by Thyrsa W. Amos, dean of women, University of Pittsburgh, and presentation of diplomas by the Rev. Dr. James A. Kelso, president of Western Theological Seminary.

A reception will be held in the Urban room of the William Penn Hotel following the exercises. The following will receive diplomas:

Mildred R. Joy, Margaret B. White and Lucile Capes, Pittsburgh; Elizabeth Connors, Mingo Junction, O.; Adda L. Knapp, Brookville, Pa.; Margaret J. Kearney, Brockway, Pa.; Dorothy A. Ehrl, Manor, Pa.; Helen L. Cooper, Slippery Rock, Pa.; Clara M. Mackintosh, Ambridge, Pa.; Mary J. Bittinger, Grove City, Pa.; Wilma V. Dixon, Blairsville, Pa.; Mildred L. Marsh, Fairview, Pa.; Hazel Deane, East Palestine, O.; Esther Fullerton, Enon Valley, Pa.; Grace E. Haggerty, Aliquippa, Pa.; Ethel N. Coovert, Butler, Pa.; Sunny A. Johnson, Manila, P. I.; Agnes D. Bain, Barnesboro, Pa.; Adeline A. Ashcroft, Gallitzin, Pa.; Reby C. Leish, Barnesboro, Pa.; Geraldine V. Beachem, Euclid, Pa.

Homewood Post to Receive Large Class

A large class of candidates will be presented by Comrade Joseph Roth for the Legion obligation at the next regular meeting of the Homewood-Brushton Post of the American Legion Wednesday in the Legion headquarters. The committee on arrangements has prepared an interesting program, the feature of which will be a motion picture of the Memorial Day parade.

CHURCH HOLDS BIRTHDAY

The hundredth anniversary and rededication of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Arch and North Diamond streets, North Side, will be celebrated Sunday with special music and a 7:45 p. m. sermon by the Rev. Dr. Daniel Westfall.

Rev. W. M. Bracken

The Rev. W. M. Bracken, pastor of the church, has announced that anniversary services will continue throughout the week and close June 9, with a historical sermon by the Rev. Dr. W. P. Conner. Ministers selected to lead services during anniversary week include the Revs. John F. Jose, R. P. Graham, L. D. Spaugy, Howard Rogers, Homer C. Renton, C. W. Hoover, Alonzo J. Turkle, John D. Van Horn, T. J. Sparlin and W. W. Hall.

The Arch street church had its beginning in 1829 when three men of Methodist belief organized a society and held services in a tan house on Park way, North Side. The little company soon became too large for the tannery and a one-story frame building was built on Arch and North Diamond street. This edifice is believed to be the first Methodist church in old Allegheny.

The church expanded to such an extent that on June 30, 1889, the third church built by the congregation was dedicated by Bishop I. W. Joyce. The total cost of the new building was $46,000.

60 MOTORISTS GET 'TAGS'

Dormont Borough's police court will hang out the "Standing Room Only" sign tonight. Chief of Police Albert Ruehling reports 90 motorists will be given a hearing by Burgess William S. Haddock. Sixty have passed the red light at the stop-and-go signal, and 30 tags were issued for all-night parking on various streets in the borough. The parking violations carry a fine of $1 each, and the other charge is $5 each, Chief Ruehling said.

FLAG CONTEST VICTORS SET FOR TOUR

Pittsburgh Champions To Board Train Tonight On Patriotic Pilgrimage

With the zero hour for their departure on the Patriotic Pilgrimage in the first annual Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association fast approaching, the two regional champions from this district are concluding preparations for the trip.

Rosa E. Wilson and Thomas P. Derdock, the regional champions, will leave Pittsburgh on Pennsylvania limited train tonight, proceeding to Philadelphia, where they will join Mrs. Allen Dougherty and the other 34 regional flag champions from all over the country.

The Detroit regional champions will join the Pittsburgh delegation tonight, and Mrs. Eva M. Barrett will chaperon the four young champions throughout the tour.

Preparations are meanwhile being made in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Saratoga, Baltimore, Annapolis, West Point and Washington for a glorious trip with every possible point of interest included.

Educational leaders throughout the nation have lauded the benefit the Patriotic Pilgrimage holds in store for these boys and girls.

Especially surprising is the announcement from Pittsburgh that two orphans were selected as the regional champions. With the identity of the contestants concealed from the judges by use of fictitious names, the quality of the essays alone secured the selection of these children.

HILL TOP CLASS TO STAGE PLAY

"Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?" a comedy, will be presented by the class of '29 of the St. Mary's of the Mount High School at St. Mary's auditorium, Grandview avenue and Bigham street, Wednesday evening.

Robert J. Sullivan and Mary V. TRIP TO CIRCUS FOR 2 CHILDREN

Within three days a Pittsburgh girl and boy will make a journey to fairyland. If you would like to be that girl or boy—Pittsburgh's Cinderella and Prince Charming—write to the Circus Cinderella Editor of the Sun-Telegraph now and tell him what your truest wish would be if a fairy godmother promised to bring that wish true.

The rules for writing the wishing letter are on this page for boys and girls over 9 and under 12 to read. Younger and older boys and girls are not eligible.

If yours is the best wish you will be one of the royal pair which the Sun-Telegraph will select for Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's circus, which is coming to town Monday.

On Tuesday, Prince Charming and Cinderella will be taken to the circus as royal guests, and there they will make a grand entry at the head of the circus procession, in a fairy coach drawn by six white ponies.

From special seats they will watch the glittering make believe and hear the joyous hoopla of the circus, and when that joy is ended they will be taken for a tour of the show behind the show, to see the marvels of the cooktent and to greet the stars.

They will be a prince and a princess for a day.

Write your wishing letter now.

$25 Awaits Child Finding Name for Zoo's Hippo

Pupils in the public, parochial and private schools of Pittsburgh are showing keen interest in winning $25 vacation money offered by the Sun-Telegraph for naming the new baby hippopotamus at the Highland Park zoo.

Hundreds of suggested names have been received. These range all the way from catchy words of three letters to names as long as that of the Prince of Wales. Even a few saint's names have been proposed for the 500-pound babe at the zoo. World notables, including statesmen, actors, screen stars, athletes and singers would be honored in the nominations. Popular songs, the latest slang and invented words have been suggested.

Several Pittsburgh school boys are seeking fame by suggesting their own names for the baby hippo.

Mr. Tretow and Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, who will choose the prize-winning name, couldn't make up their minds what to call it. The superintendent felt the school children would be keenly interested in having a part in the selection.

Therefore, the Sun-Telegraph offered to give the boy or girl who would submit a name that would be selected a prize of $25. All children are urged to mail their suggestions early. The time limit on this offer will be at 6 p. m., June 5. An entry blank appears elsewhere on this page.

Uncle Robert's Talk

PITTSBURGH, May 31.

Newspapers can never blame police forces for not finding criminals. Here they have had everybody from the managing editors down to the newsboys looking for Charlie and Anne and can't find them. What would they do if they was looking for somebody that nobody knew?

They are just about down at Claremore, Okla. He has flew all over this country and knows the best spot.

You know where he could be all this time? At one of those camps where they trained the soldiers for overseas. Millions of soldiers that was training at 'em couldn't find 'em if they left 'em and went into town. The fellow that located them for the government had been an outlaw for years. So Lindy is at Yaphank.

Yours, WILL.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Jean Moore, Granddaughter Of Mrs. J. R. McGinley, to Wed in East Tomorrow

IT looks as though the sun were going to keep right on a-shining for the brides of the very first day of June, which is no farther off than tomorrow! And these few days of soul-warming sunshine have made me so optimistic that I'm sure not a dark cloud will dare drift across the sky the whole month.

Wouldn't it be glorious to have three bright warm days for the horse show, and for all the garden parties planned for our debutantes?

But to return to June weddings. Many Pittsburgh folks are interested in the marriage of Jean Moore, daughter of the Edward S. Moores, of Roslyn and New York, to the Hon. Oliver Malcolm Wallop, of England, at Garden City in the Cathedral of the Incarnation tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rt. Rev. Ernest M. Stires, bishop of Long Island, will officiate.

Jean's mother was Jean McGinley, daughter of the late J. R. McGinley, and Mrs. McGinley, formerly of Pittsburgh, now of New York. And if I remember correctly, when Jean's mother was married, the McGinley family home was on what is now a part of the campus of the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Thomas A. McGinley, of Pittsburgh and Sewickley, Jean's uncle; Mrs. McGinley and her daughter, Mary Elizabeth Floyd, a debutante of the coming fall, will attend the wedding. The Cyrus R. Millers, of Sewickley, also will be guests at the ceremony. Mrs. Miller is the former Lois McGinley, Jean's aunt. They all left last night for New York.

Tonight Jean will have members of the bridal party, friends and out-of-town guests for a dinner-dance at the Deepdale Country Club.

Many prominent folks already have arrived for the ceremony. Among them, of course, are the father and mother of the bridegroom, the Earl and Countess of Portsmouth, of Barton House, Mochard Bishop, Devonshire, England.

ANOTHER wedding tomorrow which interests our society set, although it will take place far from here, is that of Fannie Dusmet, daughter of the Marchesa Dusmet de Smours, of Rome, who will marry the Count Francisco Campello, also of Rome. Mrs. James B. Oliver, of Shields, grandmother of the bride-elect, will attend the ceremony, I've mentioned before.

MANY entertainments will be given this week-end for Margaret McClintic, daughter of the Howard Hale McClintics, of Beechwood boulevard, who will become the bride of George Hutchinson Love, of Johnstown, Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in Calvary Episcopal Church.

The rehearsal will be held tomorrow morning, to be followed by a luncheon Mrs. Leslie F. Buswell, of Gloucester, Mass., will give in the Longue Vue Country Club. Mrs. Buswell before her marriage last September was Mary Armstrong Robinson, daughter of William H. Robinson, of Beechwood boulevard.

Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Walter F. Schleiter will entertain in her home for the bridal party, and tomorrow night the Raymond Ford Morelands will entertain in the home of Mrs. Moreland's mother, Mrs. William Terrell Johnson, of Forbes street. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Jennings will give a luncheon at Rolling Rock.

Before the wedding Monday, Margaret's brothers, Robert H. McClintic, Stewart McClintic and Howard Hale McClintic, Jr., will give a luncheon in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

Among the out-of-town guests who'll attend the wedding are the John Jay Scheiffelins, the John Westerfields and the Harry Mintons, all of New York; the Donald Griscolls, of Middleton, O.; the Leslie F. Buswells, of Gloucester, Mass., and the Donald Lowries, of Chicago.

Today the Frank S. Loves gave a buffet luncheon in their home for the bridal party, and this afternoon Anna K. Childs, of Woodland road, is giving a tea in her home. This evening the Alan M. Scaifes will entertain in the home of Mrs. Scaife's mother and father, the Richard Beatty Mellons.

AMONG the many garden parties planned for the sunny month of June is the aviation garden party the Ogontz Alumnae Association will give at the home of Mrs. Arthur E. Braun, of Morewood Heights, the afternoon of June 14. Proceeds will be used to complete the budget of the school for tubercular children, maintained by the organization.

Mrs. William A. Duckham and Mrs. G. Warren Wattles, Jr., will be in charge of the sale of toy balloons, to be entered in a race during the afternoon.

And to give a distinctive aeronautical flavor to the party Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly across the Atlantic, will be a guest. The aviatrix is a graduate of the Ogontz School, by the way.

Mrs. John Hunter is chairman and Margaret Hunter, vice chairman, of the dance committee, assisted by Mrs. Donald Baum, Susan Trimble, Alice Brown, Jean Campbell, Mrs. Rebecca Dallmeyer, Margaret Hardy, Adelaide Kepler, Margaret McKean, Marie Opperman, Mrs. A. W. Thrasher, Mrs. Brooke L. Jarrett, Mrs. Robert Parsons, of Zanesville, O.; Helen Phillips and Mrs. Van Lear Perry Shriver.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK F. CANUTI, of Oakmont, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Thelma Irene Canuti, and Ralph Calvin Hoerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Hoerr, of Verona, which was solemnized last night at 8:45 o'clock in the Canuti home by the Rev. Dr. Bennett Hutchinson, pastor of the Oakmont Methodist Episcopal Church. Mrs. Robert F. Garvin, of Beaver, was her sister's matron of honor, and George A. Leber, of Crafton, was best man. Miss Lillian Canuti, another sister of the bride, sang, and Mrs. Robert B. Bright, of the East End, played the wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. Hoerr will make their home in Verona.

MR. AND MRS. C. BERNARD SHEA, of Tennyson avenue, sailed Wednesday morning on the Aquitania for a trip aborad. They expect to spend several months in Europe.

* * *

MRS. H. N. RICHARDS, of the Berkshire Apartments, and Mrs. O. W. Mitchell, of Aspinwall, will leave Monday for the East. They will visit friends in Philadelphia and Atlantic City and will go to New York before returning home.

Delicious flavor for vegetable foods

Any woman interested in appetite appeal can use it

COOKING history was made recently when four famous cooking experts met in a kitchen high up in a New York skyscraper. The question before the house was what could be done to make vegetable dishes as delicious as they could be. The result of the experiments, which were carried on for several days, was the far-reaching new discovery of an old secret. The best way to cook vegetables is in a small amount of water, and with the addition of sugar. In every case vegetables so prepared received the unanimous vote of the experts.

For luncheon or dinner cook 6 medium carrots with a level tablespoon of sugar in the least boiling water possible. Slice, reheat and let simmer 10 minutes in 2 teaspoons of butter, pinch of salt, and 1 level tablespoon of sugar.

For delicious stewed tomatoes, peel, slice and stew 6 ripe ones, then add a lump of butter, 3 teaspoons of salt, 2 level tablespoons of sugar, and 1 tablespoon of bread crumbs. Cook 10 minutes longer and serve.

Just try sugar with vegetables in your own kitchen and notice how much better it makes these healthful foods. Try a dash of sugar with lima beans, string beans, corn, peas, parsnips, squash, onions and tomatoes. It makes children and adults like them. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. RESERVE ARMY IN MANEUVER

By EDWARD PRENDERGAST,
Staff Correspondent.

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., May 31.—The Metropolis of Pittsburgh was attacked today by a strange army. Almost fictional, it only consisted of officers, in the khaki of the American Army. Although they were armed, it was a bloodless conquest. It was the morning field maneuver of the reserve officers of Pennsylvania, who met here and turned a gay summer resort into a military camp over night.

Led by Col. Thomas M. Anderson, chief of staff of the Ninety-ninth Division, and assisted by his staff officers, the first real field maneuver was the "attack" of Pittsburgh. In a lecture last night, Cleveland, O., was subjected to the same procedure, but whether it was won the 100 or more reserve officers would not say.

The conventioners, straggling in all yesterday, attended a memorial service last night in the Conneaut Lake Hotel, where Bishop John C. Ward, of the Episcopal Diocese of Erie, spoke on peace. Other speakers were Col. Anderson, Maj. C. A. Gabbert, of Tamaqua, who talked on the American Legion; the Rev. W. S. Van Dyke, chaplain, of Smithport, and the Rev. P. A. Kucher, chaplain, of Dubois, and Lieut. H. S. Moulthrop, of Dubois, president of the reserve association.

Pistol and golf tournaments for the officers and their wives began shortly after noon.

The military ball will be held tonight following the business meeting.

STATE CATHOLIC WOMEN HERE

A ball and card party tonight in the William Penn Hotel will end the biennial state convention of the Catholic Daughters of America.

More than 800 persons attended a banquet in the hotel last night, the event climaxing the first day of the convention. Speakers were the Rt. Rev. John Mark Gannon, bishop of Erie, and state chaplain of the organization; the Rt. Rev. William F. Hafey, bishop of Raleigh, N. C., and national chaplain; Miss Mary C. Duffy, of Newark, N. J., supreme regent; Miss Frances Maher, of Kane, Pa., state regent and vice supreme regent; Leo G. Griffith, Pittsburgh, past state deputy, Knights of Columbus; John M. Boissou, president, Pittsburgh Chapter, Knights of Columbus, and Miss Nora B. King, of Pittsburgh, vice state regent. The Rev. John F. R. Corcoran, director of the Pittsburgh Conference of Catholic Charities, asked the invocation.

Two thousand members and delegates yesterday took part in the services at the grave of Thomas F. Enright, first Pittsburgh soldier to die in the World War, in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The Rev. Paul Campbell, superintendent of schools of the Pittsburgh diocese, and the Rev. L. A. O'Connell officiated at mass in Epiphany church. At a business session which followed delegates were welcomed by President of Council James F. Malone.

TWO WOMEN GO TO ALDERSON

Deputy United States Marshal D. A. Goldman today returned from the Federal Industrial Institute for Women at Alderson, W. Va., where he turned over to the warden the first women prisoners committed there by the Federal District Court.

One woman committed was Mrs. Jessie E. Taylor, 29, former postmaster at Claytonia, Butler County, who pleaded guilty to embezzling $3,570 of postoffice funds, and was sentenced to serve one year. The other was Mrs. Agnes Pandaglio, of Scottdale, sentenced to serve two years for violating a two-year parole imposed May 15, 1928, when she pleaded guilty of violating the Harrison narcotic act. She was subsequently arrested on a liquor charge.

BOGGS & BUHL

WOMAN HELD AS RUM RUNNER

An alleged woman bootlegger, Mrs. Anna Burke, 35, of 4 Graphic street, was held for court on charges of violating the Snyder act when arraigned in Morals Court today. Patrolman Joseph Palmer testified he had arrested the woman in the rear of Vespucius street today with four five-gallon cans of moonshine in her possession.

"I received a phone call to go to Homestead and meet an automobile. The liquor was transferred to my car from another machine when I got there," she told the court.

"Who called you?" Magistrate A. D. Brandon inquired.

"I don't know."

"From whom did you buy the moonshine?" Brandon asked.

"I don't know, I just took it from the men who put it in the car. I don't know the person who was to get it, as I was only to deliver it at the place where I was arrested."

ELECTIONS HELD BY LUTHERANS

WHEELING, W. Va., May 31.—(AP.)—Reorganization of the Lutheran church in Pennsylvania was proposed yesterday at the eighty-seventh annual convention of the Pittsburgh synod of the United Lutheran Church here.

The plan would reduce the number of synods from six, as at present, to four, as follows:

Ministerium of Pennsylvania with 511 congregations; Gettysburg synod with 404 congregations; Susquehanna synod with 234 congregations, and Pittsburgh synod with 260 churches.

The proposal was referred to a special committee, which is expected report before the convention ends Sunday.

MERGER INDORSED

Proposed merger of the Lutheran seminaries at Gettysburg, Susquehanna and Philadelphia was indorsed by the synod.

Plans for a new church at Pennsylvania State College for Lutheran students were outlined. The cost of the edifice, $100,000, would be divided as follows: $20,000 to be raised by each of the Allegheny, East Pennsylvania, Susquehanna and Western Pennsylvania synods and $20,000 to be raised by the Pittsburgh synod and ministerium.

Congregations represented at the meeting indorsed a campaign to raise $750,000 for the needs of Thiel College, Greenville, Pa.

$4,000,000 EXPENDED

The Rev. E. F. Rice, synod treasurer, reported $4,000,000 expended in the work of the synod during the year. Of this amount, $150,000 was given to the United Lutheran Church of America.

Decision was reached to set aside one session of the 1930 convention for a discussion of religious education. This was regarded as a victory for the fundamentalists as the modernist faction had opposed the plan.

ELECTIONS HELD

Meat Carefully Guarded From Ranch to Table

Lamb Is Worthy of Your Consumption, Good For the Well and Particularly Valuable for the Sick.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Former Health Commissioner of New York City, United States Senator from New York.

IS THE housewife really appreciative of what is being done to insure her having a high quality of food? You go to the meat market and buy a leg of lamb. Have you ever thought of the care and technical skill that has been given to that particular article of food?

Most of us take for granted and as a matter of course the goodness of our foods. We never give a thought to where they come from and the labor involved in getting them ready for us. I wonder if this is quite fair to the many persons who have contributed to our happiness and health?

To begin with, the ranch owner and sheep herder have had many an anxious night and many an arduous day to watch the sheep, feed them and keep them in health. After the lambs have been carried long distances to the primary market and then sold to the packers, hundreds of details requiring eternal watchfulness have to be observed.

During the process of slaughtering, the federal inspectors watch every step. They examine the carcass and see if it is free from disease. Just as the veterinarians have inspected the living animals, so these government officials guard us by critical attention before they are willing to affix the official stamp showing that the meat has received government inspection.

It is an expensive and scientific method which makes possible the transportation of the meat from the market in the city, and ultimately to the meat shop. Scientific refrigeration has kept the product at a temperature below 50 degrees. No harmful germs have been permitted to contaminate the meat or to thrive in the flesh.

The health and food officials in the cities watch the handling of the meat in the retail markets. Nothing escapes their sharp eyes. When the meat is delivered to your home it is a wholesome, palatable, health-giving food.

This is a brief account of how the lamb you had for dinner yesterday reached you with all its splendid qualities. You did well to eat it because it is worthy of your consumption.

I regard lamb as one of the best of meats. It is good for the well and particularly valuable for the sick.

Here's Simple Way To Prevent "Soap Eat" and Fade in Hosiery

Stops Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

Soap eat of fragile chiffons and fading of delicate colors in the most cobwebby hosiery can easily be corrrected now, even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For small wash basins, use 1 teaspoonful of CLIMALENE.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

"Better eggs, finer oil give this flavor"

SAY SUCCESSFUL COOKS

"—any real cook can tell it contains the very best eggs and oil"

"It's a delight to have Hellmann's in the refrigerator. I've used it for 2 years and it's always so marvelously good for every kind of a salad. Any real cook can tell, just by the taste, it contains the very best eggs and oil."—Catherine Locke

The charming luncheons of Mrs. Henry B. Cabot, Jr., of Boston, are prepared by Catherine Locke.

"—I don't know of anything more appetizing"

"No lunch is ever served in this house without a salad. And with a real mayonnaise, like Hellmann's, I don't know of anything more appetizing. You can always tell Hellmann's by its true, bland mayonnaise flavor. I've used it for six years."—Nina Swanson.

Nina Swanson's cooking is justly valued by the famous Ethel Barrymore.

GOOD COOKS need the best of everything to work with! They know fine food means, first of all, ingredients of the very highest quality.

That is why Hellmann's Mayonnaise is preferred in 5,000,000 homes today. Its rich, true flavor comes from the choicest eggs, the purest salad oil, the clearest vinegar, and rare spices.

These ingredients—and nothing else—are carefully blended, after a jealously guarded French recipe, in six sunny kitchens, scattered across the country. Wherever you live, there is a Hellmann kitchen not far off, from which the jars of fresh mayonnaise are brought swiftly and regularly to your grocer.

Order a jar of Hellmann's Mayonnaise today. Keep a jar always on hand for your salads and sandwiches. The popular family size is ½ pint—25¢. Other sizes, 3½ ounce, pint, and quart jars.

Your Sunday Dinner--By Prudence Penny

NEVER were fruits more luscious and plentiful than they are right now, so by all means let us take advantage of the season and start our Sunday dinner with a fruit salad; we'll end it with strawberry tarts.

Cut three orranges in two, crosswire, reserving the peels as salad cups, remove the pulp separately from each section. Remove the skin and seeds from ½ pound grapes. Mix the orange pulp, grapes, ¼ cup chopped pineapple, sugar to taste and the juice of a lemon. Let the mixture stand in a cool place for several hours.

Before serving add three sliced bananas. Fill the orange peels with this and pour over it dressing made by mixing 1-3 cup white grapejuice with ½ cup sugar and 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

SPANISH hash is made by mixing together 1 pound of hamberger steak, a small can of tomatoes, 1 cup cooked rice and 1 chopped onion. Salt to taste. Put in buttered baking dish, and cover with bread crumbs. Dot with bits of butter and a dash of paprika. Bake for an hour in moderate oven.

Bird's nest salad is a quaint title, isn't it? And bird's nest salad is as delicous a morsel as ever graced the table. Mix ½ pound of cream cottage cheese to a smooth paste with salt, pepper and a little cream. Add ¼ pound chopped nut meats and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Form into balls and place 3 or 4 balls in the center of crisp lettuce leaves for each plate. Add mayonnaise dressing.

BEEF BRISKET, ONION SAUCE—Wipe a 3- or 4-pound piece of beef brisket with a clean, damp cloth and tie in a piece of cheesecloth. Place in a large kettle, cover with boiling water, add 6 or 8 peppercorns and 6 cloves and a few greens, if desired. Simmer gently until tender, adding salt when half done. Remove cheesecloth, place meat in a baking dish. Brush meat with a beaten egg, sprinkle with coarse bread crumbs and brown quickly. Serve with onion sauce. Garnish with parsley.

CORN is a universally popular vegetable, but we do get tired of just plain canned corn or corn pudding. But here are ways of using corn in new and interesting dishes:

* * *

CORN LOAF—To one quart of hot mashed potatoes add 2 cups of canned corn, 2 tablespoons of butter, or drippings, 2 teaspoons of salt, a dash of pepper and one teaspoon of grated onion. Beat 2 eggs until light and add them to the above mixture, with the exception of a teaspoonful to brush over the top of the loaf. Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes.

SQUAW CORN AND CHEESE—Melt a tablespoon of butter, add three tablespoons of flour and stir until it foams. Add a teaspoon of salt and two cups of milk and stir until smooth and thick. Add 1¼ cups of canned corn, 1½ cups of grated cheese, 1 tablespoon of chopped parsley and ¼ teaspoon of mustard. Pour this mixture into 2 well-beaten eggs and turn into a well-greased baking dish and cook 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

CORN WITH SHALLOTS—Put 6 shallots (or thre small onions) in a saucepan with two tablespoons of butter; stir and cook 2 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon of flour, mix well, add ½ cup of stock and stir until sauce boils. Add 2 cups of canned corn, season to taste with sale and CORN WITH OLIVES—Cook six shallots (or three small onions) from the stem ends and removing the seeds—in boiling water for 10 minutes, then drain. Mix one cup of canned corn with one cup of ripe olives, chopped. Add a teaspoon of salt, pepper to taste, ¾ cup of bread crumbs and 1 beaten egg. Fill the peppers with this mixture, sprinkle with crumbs, dot with butter and place in a pan. Bake until brown with the pan standing in hot water.

MOCK CRABS—Melt a quarter of a cup of butter, add half a cup of flour, ¾ teaspoon of mustard, a quarter of a teaspoon of paprika, 1½ teaspoons of salt and, very gradually, 1½ cups of milk. Stir in 2½ cups of canned corn, 1 egg, slightly beaten, and 3 teaspoons of Worcestershire sauce. Put into a buttered dish, cover with a cup of cracker crumbs blended with 2 tablespoons of melted butter and bake until brown.

CREAMED TONGUE IN POTATO BOATS—Wash, boil until soft, and skin large sweet potatoes, allowing a half potato for each serving. Cut in halves lengthwise. Scoop out some of the center of the potato, brush the potato all over with melted shortening, and brown for a few minutes under the broiler flame. Remove to individual plates and put hot creamed tongue in the hollow of the potato. This is a delicious luncheon dish. Creamed ham may be substituted for the tongue with equally satisfying results.

SWEET POTATO CUSTARD—Like corn custard, sweet potato custard is a dish to be served hot, as a vegetable with the dinner, and not as a dessert. However, this same recipe is also delicious used as a filling for pie. Mash well 3 cooked sweet potatoes of medium size. Add 2 eggs, well beaten, 1-3 teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, ½ cupful of brown sugar, and 3 cupfuls of milk. Mix thoroughly, pour into a buttered baking dish, and bake in a slow oven until firm. Cover with meringue or marshmallows, if desired. When using this recipe as a pie filling, add 2 teaspoonfuls of granulated sugar.

PRUNE COFFE CAKE—Cream ¾ cup sugar and 4 tablespoons butter. Add 2 eggs, well beaten. Sift together 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt, add alternately with ½ to ¾ cup milk until you have a very soft dough. Pour into a greased baking pan. Top with prunes that have been soaked and stoned. Sprinkle with a mixture of ⅓ cup brown sugar and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven twenty-five minutes.

* * *

BANANA SHORTCAKE—Here's a splendid recipe for a longed-for dessert. Cream a quarter cup of butter, add ½ cup of sugar gradually, and an egg well beaten. Mix and sift together a cup of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder and a quarter teaspoon of salt, adding alternately with a quarter cup of milk to the first mixture. Beat thoroughly and bake in a buttered round tin. Cut ripe bananas in fairly thick slices and put on top of the shortcake. Cover with plenty of whipped cream. A little powdered sugar may be added, if desired.

MACARONI with Italian sauce is another recipe you should have in your cook book.

It calls for three-quarters of a pound of macaroni, one large can tomatoes, one small can tomato soup, two tablespoons minced onion, two cloves, garlic cut fine, one teaspoon minced parsley, one-half teaspoon mixed herbs or thyme, three red peppers, four tablespoons olive oil or melted butter, grated cheese. Combine all seasonings and simmer one hour, stirring frequently. Have ready hot boiled and drained macaroni and arrange on large platter.

Pass grated cheese separately. Add two or three cups minced cooked clams to sauce for heartier dish. Arrange layers of cooked paste in casserole, spread with sauce or meat, fill with paste to top, sprinkle with cheese and brown 20 minutes in oven as au gratin dish, or use two cups of leftover fish with tomato, cheese or plain cream sauce and serve with or without baking.

CHICKEN WITH MUSHROOM—Dress, clean and cut a three-pound chicken at the joints. Season with two teaspoons of salt and paprika to taste. Heat about a quarter cup of butter in a deep frying pan, add a small sliced onion and the chicken, and cook to a golden brown. Cover tightly and let cook very slowly until tender. Wash a pound of fresh mushrooms, cook in boiling salted water for five minutes, then add to the chicken and cook altogether slowly for 15 minutes. Heap lightly into the ramekins, and serve very hot.

ORANGE GUMDROPS—Soak 6½ tablespoons of gelatine in a half cup of strained orange juice and one cup water until liquid is absorbed. Cook 1¾ cups sugar, ½ corn syrup, the grated rind of half an orange and a tablespoon of water to 240 degrees F., or until a soft ball is formed when the mixture is tried in cold water. Add gelatine, stir one minute, remove from fire, strain. Let stand five minutes, remove scum, pour into starch molds. When firm, place in sifter and shake or brush off superfluous starch. Hold for a moment in the steam from a teakettle, then roll in coarse granulated sugar.

FROZEN BANANA CUSTARD—Cook together in a double boiler a quart of milk, two eggs, one tablespoon of cornstarch (wet the cornstarch with a little cold water and stir until smooth before adding it to the milk), four tablespoonfuls of sugar and a dessert spoonful of vanilla. Cook this for 10 minutes, stirring constantly to keep from getting lumpy. Have ready six or seven bananas, wash well, and when the double boiler mixture is cool, pour it over the bananas and serve. Whipped cream sprinkled with chopped nut meats can be added to make it richer.

GRAPEFRUIT—The night before cut grapefruit in halves and remove core and seeds. In the center of each half grapefruit put a generous tablespoon of honey, and set in the refrigerator for the night. Serve without sugaring—the honey blends perfectly with the tart fruit; gives an elusive perfume and a wholly new, delightful flavor.

* * *

CHEESE AND RICE CROQUETTES—Make a thick white sauce of 1 cup of milk, ¼ cup of butter and 1-3 cup of flour. Add 1 cup grated pimento cheese and stir until melted. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of paprika. Cool, mix with 2 cups of cold boiled rice and shape. Roll in bread crumbs and dip in a slightly beaten egg, diluted with 2 tablespoons water. Boil in crumbs again and fry in deep fat.

MARBLE CAKE—For the dark part, ½ cup butter, a cup sugar, ½ cup molasses, 4 egg yolks, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-3 teaspoon each nutmeg, cinnamon, cloves and ½ cup sour milk.

For the light part, ½ cup butter, a cup sugar, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, 4 egg whites, 1 teaspoon vanilla. For the dark part cream the butter and sugar, add molasses, mix well. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with the sour milk. Lastly, add the well beaten egg yolks.

For the white part, cream the butter, add sugar gradually while creaming. Sift dry ingredients together, add to the first mixture, alternately with the milk, beating thoroughly after each addition.

Lastly, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and vanilla. Into a greased pan pour first the white mixture, then the dark irregularly to resemble marble. Bake in a moderate oven about one hour.

EGG HINT—Egg whites that are to be beaten until they will "stand alone" must have no tiny bit of yolk in them. If in breaking the egg a little yolk drops into the whites, moisten a corner of a fresh tea towel in cold water and touch the bit of yolk. It will attach itself to the towel and can be so removed without taking any of the white.

VEAL LOAF—To 2½ pounds chopped veal add the following ingredients: ¼ pound salt pork, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, ½ cup stock, 1 egg and ½ teaspoon sage. Mix well and pack in a greased loaf pan. Bake for two hours in a moderate oven. Baste with a mixture of ½ cup water or stock to which two tablespoons of fat have been added.

A smooth, swift car, open to sun and wind. Dry, dusty throats. And at the end of the road-Iced

Meditations of a Wife

When Woman "Wears the Trousers"

AT LAST woman has got her wish. She's wearing the trousers!

No debutante's summer wardrobe is complete without her beach pajamas, overalls, hiking knickers and riding breeches. Particularly her BEACH PAJAMAS!

Well, perhaps I'm becoming effeminate. But I've tried them all—and never in my life have I been so bitterly disappointed or so painfully uncomfortable.

For years I have secretly envied a man his clothes. Not for their intrinsic beauty, of course. I always knew there was no aesthetic reason for the eye-searing things that a man wears.

HELEN ROWLAND

Look at a man in his shirt-sleeves, for instance—and what do you see? A waistcoat that wrinkles over the most shrinking front, and doesn't even come within kissing distance of his trousers in the back.

* * *

A shirt that bulges over the straightest, military back, blouses in a haphazard, temperamental way over the belt, and crawls up in front, unless he is constantly holding his breath and tucking it in. And trousers that balloon around his hips like twin loving cups, and are held on only by faith and a leather belt.

* * *

Only under the merciful covering of his coat, which seems to have been an after-thought, does a man look as though he were made "all in one piece."

* * *

And even then, when his trousers happen to creep up, you can see the bare legs, where his socks are divorced from the rest of his garments.

Oh yes, there is something so detached and "companionate" about a man's clothes! But I have always nursed the fond delusion that they WERE comfortable. And I have winced with self-consciousness every time a man got up on the platform and excoriated woman for her sartorial follies, and her sufferings in the name of fashion.

* * *

Never again! I take it all back! Distance no longer lends enchantment to the trouser leg now that it has ceased to be forbidden fruit.

* * *

You may have your trousers, Sister—but I'M going feminine! Next to a bad conscience, there is nothing so conducive to insomnia as a pair of pajamas that strangle your waist and wrap around your knees and give you horrible dreams even on a reducing diet.

* * *

Next to a mustard plaster, there is nothing stickier or hotter on a July day than a cute little pair of knickerbockers! Or a pair of overalls!

Give ME my one-piece garments, my wild, free sports skirts, my flattering silk hose, and my soothing silk lullaby gown! Don't tell me any more bedtime stories about the comfort and utility of men's clothes!

* * *

You can never give me back my beautiful lost illusions!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Complications the Danger in Pleurisy

A FEW days ago I talked with a rugged and apparently healthy young woman. She told me she had just recovered from an attack of pleurisy.

DR. COPELAND

This is a disagreeable ailment. It attacks persons of all ages. In itself the disease is not particularly important. Unfortunately, however, there is a disagreeable relationship between pleurisy and tuberculosis.

Not for a moment would I have you think that every case of pleurisy is a symptom of tuberculosis. I do want you to know, however, that no chances must be taken in recovering from an attack.

Too many of us are inclined to sneer at disease. We take it too lightly. During the fever and the uncomfortable symptoms accompanying it, we form all sorts of resolutions. We determine that we are going to do everything necessary to avoid sickness in the future.

But just as soon as we begin to get better our good resolutions are forgotten. In our hurry to get back to business we do not give Nature half a chance to complete the recovery.

There are some attacks of pleurisy which, painful as they are, are not particularly serious. A perfectly healthy individual may suffer with symptoms of pleurisy after exposure to wet or cold.

There are the usual signs of trouble. Slight fever and pain in the side. When the doctor listens to the chest he finds friction on breathing. In a favorable case there is no accumulation of fluid within the chest and the symptoms disappear within a few days.

In another type of pleurisy there is an accumulation of fluid. The word used to describe this is "effusion." The condition is known to the doctors as "pleurisy with effusion."

In every such case we are dealing with an ailment of considerable consequence. An unfriendly germ is present in the system. It is bound to be an uncomfortable neighbor. You need not think you are going to die of you are unfortunate enough to take on a passenger of this description, but certain precautions are absolutely necessary.

I would not speak to you at all about this matter if I did not do it for a specific purpose. I want you to understand that pleurisy should not be neglected. If your doctor tells you you have this ailment and advises you to keep quiet, you should do exactly as he says.

The germs I have mentioned are germs capable of producing pus, or to create other unpleasant complications. They lead to a physical condition which may make you very ill and impair your usefulness for a long time.

You should lead such a life that your powers of resistance are always operating. They are working all the time to guard you against enemies if given half a chance.

Hard work and worry lower the vitality. The burden of having to earn a living and to support a family makes it difficulty to escape abuse of the body.

If you have a beautiful vase or some other fragile possession you do not spend all your time worrying for fear it may be broken. But you do take pains to keep the vase under conditions which will insure its safety.

Why don't you do this with your body? Certainly it is more important than any ordinary personal property. Guard it against harm, and if by any chance you do get sick, deal honestly with Nature. Assist her in the process of getting well.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Whatever Scheme Hidden Back of Sam's Offer Is 'Spiked'

THE silence which followed Samuel Brixton's final appeal to Lillian lasted no longer than a minute. But it seemed a full hour in duration while I watched the expression of the man's face change from truculence and thwarted scheming to a resigned acceptance of her dictum.

"All right," he said at last, "I'll tell Helena everything's O. K. I'll do more than that. When Marion is of age, I'll make it right with her. She'll probably have some sense, instead of trying to pick flaws in something which is perfectly correct."

He shot a venomous side glance at me, and I knew that he cheerfully could have strangled me. But I looked at him with smiling nonchalance.

"We can safely leave that to her decision," I said. "For the present, let us forget that this conversation has been held."

He started perceptibly.

"Are you willing to do that?" he asked eagerly. "You won't make Helena feel bad by taking Marion away from that school or anything like that?"

"Of course not," Lillian exclaimed indignantly, and I saw that I must walk warily where her sympathies with Helena Brixton were concerned. But I had a vivid ironic memory of her wish to change Marion's school which she had expressed to me but a few minutes before. Not for the first time I realized that my friend will sacrifice anything on earth to her fear of being unjust.

I thought I saw part, at least, of the scheme which I suspected Samuel Brixton and his half-brother of concocting against Lillian. They meant to have Marion on such terms of intimacy with the Brixton family that anything they suggested to her later on would have the same weight as if it came from her mother's closest friends. But there was nothing I could do save watch and wait. Later I meant to devise some plan for putting Marion on her guard against the two men.

That could wait, however. I did not wish to upset the child, and I was sure that neither Samuel Brixton nor his half-brother—especially his half-brother—would do anything precipitate. Theirs was a waiting game. Sam Brixton might be rash and impetuous, but Charles Owen, far more dangerous, was a red Indian in his infinite patience.

Mr. Brixton turned to me, his truculence vanished by Lillian's prompt assent to his plea for keeping Marion in the school.

"Just forget that spiel of mine," he said with a roughly apologetic air. "I was sore, I admit, for a minute or two, and I let my temper get the better of me, but I have no hard feelings. I hope you haven't."

His was the confident air of the man who is accustomed to "squaring things" by the sheer force of his bluff and good nature. It suited me, however, to let him think that I accepted his apology. With Marion and Carolyn prospective roommates at school with the intimacy which that relationship implied, it was vitally necessary that I be on apparently friendly terms with the Brixton family. Otherwise I could not keep up the watch over Marion's contact with them.

"I have no personal feeling in this matter whatever," I told him. "Suppose we turn the leaf down—"

"And paste it shut," Samuel Brixton amended with a huge laugh. "I'm agreed. And now I've got to look up the family. We have several places to stop before we go down to Carolyn's school."

Correct Manners

Acknowledging Invitation

A WEDDING invitation to the church ceremony only requires no answer. But an invitation to the reception or wedding breakfast—since it "requests the pleasure of your company"—should be answered at once. The answer should be written on the first page of double-sheeted letter-paper, and should be carefully spaced, like the engraved invitation, the general form should be copied. Like this:

Mr. and Mrs.
Alexander Lane Hobbs
accept with pleasure
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerry's
kind invitation
for Tuesday, the first of June
at five o'clock.

The regret would read:

Mr. and Mrs.
Alexander Lane Hobbs
regret that they are unable to accept
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerry's
kind invitation
for Tuesday, the first of June.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, June 1

THE planetary positions for this day, both by lunar and mutual aspect, point to an intriguing and unusual state of affairs. As to events there may be sudden or radical developments calling for important change or travel, possibly in connection with government or public affairs, or inventions or research. But whatever the nature, the affair will be precipitate and decisive and should find reactions of a satisfactory financial nature; but check prodigality and shun litigation. Personal relations or contacts may have peculiar angles, idealistic and inspirational, but beware of slander and misconstruction.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a most decisive and intriguing year, with unusual and exciting situations in both private and public affiliations. There may be decided change of employment or business, with travel in connection with the public, with research, investigation or promotion. Personal friendships have an idealistic and inspiring angle but incite to slander or ill repute through sordid misconstruction. It is a splendid time for cultural or mystical unfoldment or research.

A child born on this day may be ingenious and endowed with many singular ideals.

BUCS, PHILS CLASH TODAY

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Bush Praises Grimes. Greatest He Ever Saw. Southpaws for Phillies. | Waner Act at Its Best. Honor Susce Tomorrow. Wins in Death's Shadow.

BUCS LIKELY TO GAIN AGAINST EAST

SINGING the praises of Burleigh Grimes as a pitcher and a team worker has been one of Manager Donie Bush's favorite pastimes ever since he gave John McGraw the worst trade-beating on record by obtaining the spitball star from the Giant chief in exchange for Vic Aldridge. But yesterday Donie went beyond his usual bounds. He was fairly raving about Grimes after the latter had shut out the Cubs in the second game here yesterday, hanging up his eighth consecutive victory, within one of George Uhle's record, and putting the Pirates back in first place following their drop to a tie for the leadership in the forenoon engagement.

Donie Bush

"There goes the greatest pitcher I ever saw," said the commander of the Corsair crew as Grimes started toward the clubhouse after Sheely had retired Cuyler for the final out. "I have never seen any one like him in baseball. He is simply in a class of his own. Not only is he the best pitcher that I ever set eyes upon, but as a fighter, a team worker, a man who gets better and works harder when the going becomes tougher, and who will give his last ounce of strength for the good of his team he stands out all alone.

"IT takes the pinches, the tough games, like the final one in the series with the Cubs, to show the greatness of Grimes," continued Donie. "He is just as good as he has to be, and the harder the fight the more brilliance and determination he displays. Moreover, he is an ideal player in spirit. He does everything he is told to do, and there is never a grumble."

The latter part of Bush's statement recalls a report published after the Pirates' game in New York on May 9. With the Bucs leading 4 to 3 and two out in the Giants' half of the ninth, Leach dropped a lucky double in right and the dangerous Hogan came to bat. Grimes called Bush from the dugout for a conference, exchanged a few words with him, and then ended the game by making Hogan hit an easy grounder to Bartell.

THE report was sent out that when Bush and Grimes had conferred the manager wanted the pitcher to give Hogan a base on balls, but that Grimes insisted on making him hit. Bush and Grimes, when asked about their talk, declared that the rumored conversation was entirely erroneous.

Frank O'Doul

What actually happened was that Grimes asked for advice as to what to do, whether to walk Hogan intentionally or make him hit. "What do you say?" asked Grimes. "You know me," replied Donie. "I'm never in favor of putting the winning run on the bases." "All right," said Burleigh. "Let's make him hit." "That suits me,' 'said Bush. "Go to it."

NOW the Phillies are here for a set of four games, to open the Bucs' first home stand of the year against the Eastern division of the National League. They're not to be held as cheap as in recent years, those Quakers, for they have been actually leading the whole league in batting with an average that ran as high as .320 in the latest compilations and are apt to beat any opponent at any time. Whether they will hit as well on the road as in their own bandbox park is a question, but at the same time they must be rated as dangerous in every game.

THE Phils' attacking power is centered in their three left-hand-sluggers, Frank O'Doul, Charley Klein and Don Hurst. There are other formidable batters, such as Pinky Whitney and Denny Southern, but the left-hand clouters have been doing the greater part of the damage to opposing pitchers. Klein has made 11 home runs up to date.

It is to stop the southside trio that the defensive plans of Manager Bush have been shaped in the main, and the Phils will get a chance to look at plenty of left-hand pitching while they are visiting at Forbes Field. They will find themselves up against two southpaws right off the reel, as following the slab appearance of Larry French today Jess Petty will go to the mound tomorrow and there is a possibility that French will work again or Fred Fussell will be given a chance later in the series.

APART from the pitching of Burleigh Grimes and the work of Dick Bartell and George Grantham around shortstop and second base, the afternoon victory of Father Pitt's league leaders yesterday was featured by the hitting of the Waner brothers in the big eighth inning.

Paul Waner

Never has the "Waner Act" been staged to better advantage nor given a greater thrill to a huge crowd than when Little Poison and Big Poison won the game with their long hits before a gathering of 30,000 fans. Lloyd's triple and Paul's home run formed the knockout blow for Charley Root and the Bruins, though two more runs were scored later. The fact that Paul is now sending his drives to right center and right field indicates that he is nearing the stride that makes him a terror to all enemy hurlers.

WITH the elder Waner getting back into his true batting form the Bucs ought to be able to continue picking up ground during their home stay against the Eastern clubs. Their winning streak was broken at eight straight by their defeat yesterday morning, but somebody once remarked that no club can win them all. Besides, that was only the sixth game lost by the Rovers in their last 25 up to today, a record not equaled by any other club in the same period except the Athletics. In their last series the Bucs have been worsted in only one, that being an engagement with the Cubs in Chicago. The Cards, instead of the Cubs, were the locals' closest rivals after the Memorial Day games, that being due to a continuance of the Redbirds' feasting on the Cincinnati club from which they have won 10 out of 12 games.

A FEATURE of tomorrow's game at Forbes Field will be the honoring of a native son, George Susce, the crack young catcher of the Phillies. The neighbors and friends of the young backstop have completed plans for paying a tribute to him rarely given to a visiting player here.

In fact their will be a double royal welcome to Susce. Neighbors and friends, headed by a committee composed of Jack Fogarty, Forbes Field groundkeeper, Joe Fenton, Heinie McKnight and Johnny Koo, will present to him a handsome gold watch chain and knife, and in addition George will receive a tidy sum of money as a token of the esteem of the Forbes Field ushers, as one of whom he formerly worked, and the Schenley High School, from which he graduated. The ushers' committee is headed by Chief Gus Miller, and the presentation of the purse will be made by Gus Miller, Jr.

THE victory of Ray Keech in the 500-mile automobile race at Indianapolis yesterday reflects more than the ordinary credit due a win-

Wolgast Beats Cole In Pa. Title Bout

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—(AP.)—Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia, successfully defended his Pennsylvania state flyweight championship in an eight-round bout with Steve Cole, of Allentown, Pa., at the Toppi open air stadium last night.

Cole put up a game battle, but he was no match for the Philadelphian. In the second round and again in the fourth, Wolgast had Cole wobbly from rights to the jaw, but he managed to remain on his feet. Wolgast weighed 110½, Cole 108¼ pounds.

ARCHIE WINS LAST SIX HOLES

MOOR PARK, England, May 31.—(AP.)—Archie Compston, huge British professional golfer, won the first of two 36-hole matches from Walter Hagen, American pro, today, 8 up and 7 to play. They will play the second and final match at Birmingham tomorrow.

While Compston appeared to be at the top of his form, driving a long ball and utterly confident with the putter, Sir Walter seemed tired. He had no luck with his long shots, and his putting was not that of the Hagen of championship form.

Hagen was 2 down when the 18 holes of the morning round were completed. The first five holes of the afternoon round gave no indication that he would be so badly defeated, as he won the fifth after Compston took the first, keeping the match at 2 up for Compston.

Then came four successive disastrous holes for Sir Walter. He scored three fives and a six while the Britisher was turning in steady fours, and Hagen was 6 down on the twenty-seventh. To top it all, Hagen lost the next two holes and the match was over. The cards:

BLUE LARKSPUR WINS WITHERS

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP.)—All turfdom, that is, nearly all of it, was happy last night, but E. R. Bradley, Kentucky's thoroughbred king jubilant. And the cause of the jubilee was the sensational victory of Blue Larkspur, pride of the Blue Grass state and disappointment of the muddy Kentucks Derby, in the Withers at Belmont Park.

Running as if to prove that his poor showing in the derby was due to the mud, Blue Larkspur whipped one of the greatest fields of three-year-olds ever to face the barrier in historic trial race for the rich Belmont stakes.

ALL UPSET WINS

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP.)—The Southland Stable's All Upset is evidently after western two-year-old honors. In the Rashford Manor Stakes at Churchill Downs yesterday All Upset won his third successive race since making his debut on the track May 13.

WANER ACT BREAKS UP DIAMOND CLASSIC

HOME RUN THAT ENDED GRIMES-ROOT DUEL

For seven and one-half innings, the Pirates and Cubs battled to no score in the afternoon game of the holiday bill at Forbes Field yesterday afternoon, and then the break came when Lloyd Waner opened the Pirates' half of the eighth with a triple off the left field fence and scored on Brother Paul's home run to the center field fence. Photo shows Wilson and Heathcote chasing Paul's drive, Lloyd about to score and Paul already past first base on his tour of the sacks. Before the inning was over, the Pirates had scored four runs and they won by a 4-0 margin, to resume undisputed possession of first place.

INDIANAPOLIS GRIND WON BY KEECH

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31.—(AP.)—Death and destruction were strewn in the wreckage of that scorching torch called the 500-mile automobile sweepstakes at the Indianapolis Motors Speedway yesterday. With a record smashing crowd of 160,000 viewing the spectacle, Ray Keech, daring 28-year-old driver of Philadelphia, bounced his tiny eight-cylinder racing creation over the finish tape, a winner in 5:07:25:42. Louis Meyer, of Los Angeles, winner of the 1928 race, finished second, nearly six minutes behind Keech, with Jimmy Gleason, another Philadelphia driver, pulling up in third place.

Twelve of the 33 drivers who wheeled their cars out for the start survived the terrific test of speed. Keech averaged 97.585 miles an hour, a performance that did not even threaten speed records for the race.

DRIVER KILLED

The race resulted in the death of William Spence, 24-year-old driver of Los Angeles, and the miraculous escape of five other drivers. Spence, bounding over the perilously bumpy two and one-half mile brick course at terrifying speed, was killed when on his fortieth mile. His car turned over as he was shooting out of a turn and going into the back stretch.

The car had struck a retaining wall on a skid, threw Spence into the air in the middle of the track, turned completely over, righted itself and then came to a stop far down the track.

Spence was thrown clear of the car, but he sustained a fractured skull that resulted in him joining the list of martyrs who have sacrificed their lives in the interest of speed. Spence, unconscious and bleeding from the mouth, was picked up and rushed to the hospital inside the monster racing grounds, but he died on the way.

KEECH SHOWS SKILL

Keech, as a result of his victory, was enriched to the extent of about $40,000. He won $20,000 as first prize, $5,100 in lap prizes and the balance in cash prizes offered by accessory manufacturers. Today's race was Keech's second major competition. He finished fourth in the 1928 race, coming here after gaining fame by setting a new world record of 207.55 miles an hour on the beach at Daytona, Fla. Before that he was an unsung, small-time, dirt track driver around Philadelphia.

In winning the race today, Keech exhibited a brand of steady, consistent and nervy driving which would have done credit to the greatest names in track history. An outsider with the public, Keech was never worse off than tenth during the entire 500 miles. He took the lead at 392 miles when Meyers, who was leading at the time, was forced to the pits to replace a front tire that was torn to threads and to replenish fuel and oil.

Meyers was forced to remain in the pits six minutes and 45 seconds due to his inability to get his motor started again. While Meyers was frantically working over the motor, Keech shot into the lead, retaining it to the end when he got the checkered flag declaring him the winner.

There were 33 starters in the epoch grand. Many of them were forced to drop out, for one cause or another, before the race was half over. Others who finished in the money were:

Fourth—Carl Marchese, Marchese Special.

Fifth—W9 H. (Speed) Gardner, Stromolite Special.

Sixth—Fred Winnai, Duesenberg Special.

Seventh—Jules Moriceau, Delage Special.

Eighth—Billy Arnold, Boyle Valve Special.

Ninth—Cliff Bergere, Miller Special.

Tenth—Johnny Saymour, Cooper Special.

Malone Easy Victor Over Wilson Yarbo

OAKLAND, Cal., May 31.—(AP.)—Jock Malone, St. Paul veteran, took an easy decision from Wilson Yarbo, Cleveland Negro middleweight, here last night. Malone was floored in the first for an eight count, but came back after the second session to give his dusky foe a boxing lesson.

Yarbo, a good right-hander, socked Jock's chin in the opener and the Irishman hit the canvas. Malone clinched to finish the round and came out fresh in the second. In the remaining heats Malone used his left freely on Yarbo.

HELEN WILLS ADVANCES

BULLETIN.

PARIS, May 31.—(AP.)—Big Bill Tilden won one of the greatest uphill battles of his tennis career today, defeating Baron H. L. DeMorpurgo, of Italy, in the quarter finals of the French championships after losing the first two sets. The scores were 9-11, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, 8-6.

PARIS, May 31.—(INS.)—Helen Wills, peerless American star, advanced to the semi-finals of the women's singles of the French hard courts championships today by defeating Mme. LaFaurie, of France, 6-4, 6-1.

Helen had little difficulty in subduing her opponent. She played her usual faultless game, her powerful drives and superb placements bewildering the French woman.

Rene LaCoste, handicapped by a very sore throat, attained the semi-finals by defeating the Hungarian, Baron von Krehling, 8-6, 1-6, 6-0, 6-3. LaCoste may quit the tournament unless his condition is greatly improved by tomorrow.

PIRATES HOLD LEAD; SPLIT WITH CUBS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Our Pirates are riding high and alone on the crest of the wave today. By dividing two great holiday spectacles in the Oakland Orchard yesterday, the Buccos sent the Cubs on their way in third place, the Bushwackers holding to the honor position by a margin of one full game. The Cardinals, however, won two from the forlorn Reds and are pressing the Buccos from the runnerup position.

To add to the cup of the much-travelled Buccos, they have a deep realization of the fact that they are home for a long stay with the eastern clubs. The Seaboard invaders will begin to trek to Forbes Field this afternoon, the surprising Phillies to be the first of the Easterners to appear here. But Shotton's sluggers will play four games with the Pirates.

FRENCH TO HURL

Manager Bush announced this morning that he would use Larry French in the opener with the Phillies. As Shotton's terrific offensive operates for the most part on a lefthand drive it is altogether possible that the boys making up this attack will be harassed by good southpaw pitching. O'Doul, Klein and Hurst, three of Burt's guns, swing from the left side.

Barring a one-day jump to Brooklyn one week from Sunday, the Pirates face 14 home games with the Eastern clubs before they hit the Western train. In view of the circumstances it is reasonable to think that the Oaklanders are in for a lot of victories, although the same may be said of their two principal rivals, who also will be fighting the comparatively weak East.

About 57,000 fans made up the two big parties at the Oakland Orchard yesterday. Something like 27,000 rushed the turnstiles in the morning when the Cubs broke the Pirate eight-game winning streak by downing Remy Kremer, 5 to 1, in the afternoon, with 30,000 looking on, Burleigh Grimes blanked the Cubs as he recorded his eighth unbroken triumph of the season. The score of this battle was 4 to 0.

WANER ACT GIVEN

The Waner act went over with dramatic intensity to give the Buccos their first-place viewpoint today. A runless deadlock obtained as late as the eighth inning of the afternoon fracas as Brother Lloyd came up to face Charlie Root who was courageously swapping punches with the Duke of Burleigh.

The wee center fielder smeared a triple to left which turned the stands into a howling throng. And before the multitude could take a long breath, Brother Paul shut it off with a screeching homer that put the act over for two runs that settled the hash of the Bruins for the afternoon, although the enemy did get real spunky in the ninth before Grimes could get them retired. Ki Cuyler narrowly missed a homer into the rightfield stands with two out and two one, his drive swerving into foul territory. Cuyler eventually grounded out.

Grimes held the Cubs to seven hits, but Root was just as clever as the Pirate veteran until Lloyd and Paul began to step out in the eighth. Four singles also were made off the Chicago ace in the big frame, Grantham and Brickell following the Waner boys over the home dish.

Manager Joe McCarthy was ejected from the battlefield by Umpire Bob Hart in the fourth inning of the second game. The official allowed George Grantham to take his base after he had hit a fly to Wilson. The umpire rules that Catcher Schulte had interfered with the batter, his decision enraging McCarthy, whose protest brought about his dismissal.

STANFORD ACE SETS RECORD IN MEET

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—(AP.)—Stanford, favorite to win the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. track and field championships for the third year in a row, got off to a good start today when the Cardinal weight ace, Harlow Rothert, hurled the 16-pound iron ball to a new meet record of 50 feet, 1⅞ inches.

Rothert's toss barely displaced the former I. C. A. A. A. A. record, 50 feet, one inch, made by his teammate, Eric Krenz, last year.

Krenz was off form and did no better than about 46 feet on his first two attempts.

Barney Berlinger, Pennsylvania's allaround star, excelled anything he has ever done before in the shot put by tossing 49 feet 3⅝ inches. He had never surpassed 48 feet previously.

Scarcely a handful of spectators braved the boiling sun to witness the trial events, which pave the way for tomorrow's championship finals.

The javeline trials also saw Stanford's stars to the fore, Leo Kibby got off the best of the early throws, about 200 feet, closely followed by his teammate, Bill Sparlinp.

Rothert registered his second successive record-breaking throw with the shot when he hurled the ball 50 feet 3 inches.

Kibby also strengthened his lead in the javelin by tossing the spear 203 feet.

T. L. Ashscom, with a net 68, won the medal play at Greensburg. A. F. Humphreys was second with 70, and H. E. Marker and E. B. Moore tied for third at 72.

The winners of the morning sweepstakes at Butler were: First division, N. A. Berkmier, 73; second division, R. R. MacDonnell, 72. E. Ritts and H. A. Hassutt, finishing 4 down, tied for the prize in the match play against par in the afternoon.

P. Waner Close On Heels of Hornsby

Associated Press.

The hevy firing along the Big Six front was spread out over yesterday's double headers so that few of the members derived much advantage from it. Only Goose Goslin failed to connect in the course of two games while the other five shared a dozen hits.

Rogers Hornsby and Paul Waner showed the way with three each registering the day's only important gains.

Lou Gehrig lost two points dropping to .320. Babe Ruth and Jim Bottomley, each getting two hits apiece, remained about where they started while the hitless Goslin dropped off from .301 to .287.

Titan Runner Gives Medal To Foe

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 31.—Red Crowell, Westminster middle-distance star, played the part of a true sportsman here yesterday and played it without the benefit of a gallery.

In the 440-yard run of the Tri-State Conference championships, Crowell and Nave, Geneva runner, were clocked at a dead heat for second place. It was necessary for the men to toss for possession of the silver second-place medal.

Crowell was called over to the judges' stand, along with Nave, for the toss, but upon arriving and finding out what was wanted of him, Crowell said:

"Give the medal to Nave; I got one last year."

PIRATES, PHILS OPEN SERIES

defeat in the forenoon scrap. The veteran lefthander, who built up a big part of his reputation by trimming the Pirates as he twirled for the Giants, let the Freebooters down on six hits in eight rounds. Guy Bush worked the last inning for the Bears.

The invading Bears started the holiday by jumping off to a lead in the morning game. Cliff Heathcote worked his way around the sacks, but there would have been more scoring in the inning had it not been for the sensational fielding of Paul Waner who robbed Cuyler and Hornsby of hits by spearing their smashes near the wall.

With one out in the inning Heathcote singled to right and stole second. On Hemsley's wide throw Cliff speeded to third from whence he tallied on Cuyler's sacrifice fly, on which P. Waner turned in his first brilliant play. Paul followed by his dazzling capture of Hornsby's drive.

CUBS FILL BASES

McMillan scored on an unusual sacrifice fly in the third. The third-baseman opened with a single and Heathcote won a hit when Grantham failed to cover first on Cliff's bunt to Sheely. Cuyler filed to Bartell, but Hornsby scratched a hit off Kremer's glove that filled the sacks.

Grantham ran back into short right for Wilson's short fly. Boots hesitated in throwing to the plate and McMillan took advantage of the hesitation to score on a close play. The number was made even more unusual when it was turned into a double play. Heathcote tried to reach third on the action, but was nipped.

Beck's fumble of Traynor's slow roller gave the Pirates their only tally in the third. Two were down when Lloyd Waner spanked a hit to right. Brother Paul waited for a pass and Traynor hit a slow roller to Beck, who failed to come up with the ball and Brother Lloyd scored.

Heathcote enhanced the Cub lead in the fifth after starting the round with a pass. Cuyler fanned, but Hornsby walked and Wilson singled to center, scoring Heathcote and sending Hornsby to third. Grimm ended the inning by hitting into a double play.

RAJAH HITS TRIPLE

Honrsby's spectacular triple to the exit gates of right field came in the seventh with one out and the Rajah tallied on Wilson's single to center. Hill replaced Kremer at this point and Carmen threw wide to first in trying to catch Wilson. Hack went to second and when Grimm rattled a double to left-center, Hack scored the fifth Chicago run.

Nehf showed signs of weakening in the eighth as the Buccos made two hits. Manager McCarthy called upon Guy Bush to finish. Bush was in a little jam after two were out, Sheely and Ervin Brame hitting singles. Brame batted for Sparky Adams, who in the seventh hit for Brickell. Sparky played two innings in left field.

GENEVA KEEPS TITLE; 100 MARK TIED

By JESS CARVER.
Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 31.—A boiling sun smiled in melting splendor on Reeves Stadium here yesterday afternoon, pouring its benign but blistering rays on the backs of Geneva College's earnest young men of the cinders as they successfully defended their six-year-old tri-state track and field championship. It was so hot that the keys of this correspondent's typewriter jammed like traffic at a bathing beauty parade.

The heat brought out the best that was in the competing athletes, for they smashed to smithereens seven conference records, and equalled one official world mark. Geneva piled up a point total of 73, with Westminster, touted prior to the meet as a good bet to upset the Covenanters for the first time in conference history, in second place with 53½ points. The Dukes of Duquesne University signalized their arrival as a tri-state district track and field threat by scoring 26¾ points. Bethany came in fourth with 19, Waynesburg fifth with 8¾ and Thiel with a one-man team, wound up with nothing but the experience.

CENTURY MARK TIED

Old Man Hundred Yard Dash, who has taken a licking almost every week-end since the track campaign opened, was bumped about again as Henry Snellenback, Duquesne's crack sprinter, sped over the fast Covenanter course in 0:09 3-5 seconds. He led the field to the tape by four yards, no less, and while you may sniff a bit at the 0:09 3-5 time, don't think for a second that he did not break 10 seconds.

The following records went by the boards to the accompaniment of wild cheering from a fairly well packed gallery: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, javelin, mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, high jump and hammer throw.

Brownlee, Westminster ace, a gent who divides his time between the hurdles, discus, javelin and hammer, a strange conglomeration of activities, was the high point man. He won the high and low hurdles and the hammer throw. He set new records in the high hurdles and in the hammer, tying with Snellenback for individual record-breaking honors of the day.

@c3i& ! * - " . @ % * (Denotes time taken out to cool back of neck).

Snellenback, a truly fine runner, returned to the track half an hour after his epochal century dash to crack Bill Willie Butler's old mark in the furlong. Henry skipped over the 220 in 0:21 4-5 seconds, and completed the breaking of Mr. Butler's heart that first trembled when the hundred mark fell.

Morris, Bethany's sprinter, and no mean one, either, finished second in both the 100 and 220. But he couldn't have touched Snellenback in either race with a fishing pole.

BROWNLEE STARS

Brownlee, who runs in the best form of any hurdler in the section, beat Red Latham, Geneva's hope, going away in the high timber event. The time was 0:15 2-5 seconds. In the lows, however, he had to sprint and catch the flaming haired Covenanter at the very tape. Latham beat Brownlee over the final hurdle by two feet, but the Titan caught his man just in time to gain the nod of the judges.

Len Friedman, without a doubt the finest handler of the spear this section has ever known, threw the javelin 190 feet, 2½ inches for a new record. Brownlee flung the hammer 132 feet, 9 inches for a new mark in that event. Joe Pesci, Duquesne's easy running distance man, ran a 4:28 mile for a new record, and Baird, Geneva, high jumped 5 feet, 11 inches to set a new high level in that event.

MERRIMAN HONORED

Two mighty fine tri-state district athletes were honored by special presentations. Jimmy Evans, Grove City miler, was presented with a handsomely engraved gold medal by the Geneva team in recognition of his brilliant career at Grove City.

Clair Merriman, one of the finest examples of the scholar, athlete and gentleman combination, Geneva basketball and track star, was given a fine cup by the alumni bodies of Geneva and Beaver Falls High School.

BILL GETS HEADACHE

The only distressing features of the afternoon were the moans of Bill Butler, former Geneva and Beaver High School star and former conference record holder in the 100 and 220. Bill is track coach at Howard University, Washington, D. C., at present, and he came home specially to gloat over what he sincerely hoped would be the stark failure of the boys to break his marks. All Willie Billie has left is the 440-yard record—and a headache.

Incidentally, he is through running, except for street cars.

PARIS, May 31.—(AP.)—Maurice Gribelle, managed by Francois Descamps, former pilot of Georges Carpentier, knocked out Knute Hansen in the fifth round of their bout here last night. It was Hansen's first start since K. O. Christner knocked him out at Cleveland.

TUG AND AUGIE IN MOOSE FINALE

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The lid goes down on the Moose Temple arena, downtown, after tonight's show, which will feature Tug Phillips, former local lightweight, now of Erie, and Augie Zabish, the Beltzhoover comeback, in the 10-round main bout.

Promoter Francis Flynn, who has had a highly successful season in the compact little indoor arena, already is casting his eyes about for an outdoor site. He had a conference a few days ago with Barney Dreyfuss with regard to staging bouts at Forbes Field, and, while nothing definite was done, something may come out of this confab. The last boxing show at Forbes Field featured the late Harry Greb and Jimmy Darcy, some five years ago.

A good fighting battle is promised when Phillips, who has developed a deadly body attack and has been a consistent winner since leaving these parts, and Zabish, hook up. Augie has startled the fans by his showings in recent battles after a layoff of almost five years. In his most recent start, last week, he knocked out Al Rammey, of New York, at Johnstown.

As an added attraction tonight, Flynn has a national amateur champion turning pro in the opening bout. He is Georgie Bretsch, of the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., of the North Side, who recently won the national junior welterweight title at Chicago. His opponent in his first start for money will be Johnny Brown, rugged Lawrenceville lad.

Joe Corelli, of Erie, and Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, box the semi-final, and Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, and Jackie Murray, of the Hill, meet in a return bout in the second number.

GOOD CARD AT BOWL

A well-balanced card has been put together by Jules Beck, matchmaker of the Meyers Brothers Bowl, North Braddock, for his next show, Monday night, in the main bout of which Jack McVey, Negro middleweight star, of New York, meets Osk Till, of Buffalo. All of the principals will be middleweights or heavier, and the show will test out whether the fans like the big fellows or the small ones best for their fighting dishes. Stanley Simmons, fighting railroader, of the South Side, meets Harry Williams, Negro, of Cincinnati, in the eight-round semi-final. They are light-heavies. Lee Sala, of Donora, and Joe Dinger, Jimmy Dime's protege, of New Castle, meet in the second event, at 166 pounds, and Bob Concrete, of the East End, and Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, 160-pounders, box the opener.

Leo Mozdy, hard-hitting flyweight, of Erie, likely will appear on the card at the Meyers Bowl June 10, in one of the preliminaries to the battle in which Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight star, will be one of the principals.

MANDELL BOUT OFF

The Sammy Mandell-Louis (Kid) Kaplan bout, scheduled for Chicago tonight, was called off on Wednesday, when Federal authorities stepped in to attach the receipts for payment of taxes alleged to be owed the government by Promoter Jim Mullen.

Police Recover Clubs Stolen From Bobby

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP.)—Bobby Jones' golf clubs are safe in the hands of the police today.

The clubs, which had been stolen from a parked automobile Tuesday night, were turned over to the police last night by a garage mechanic, who had retrieved them from two boys and had been holding them for safe keeping without knowing to whom they belonged.

John Hope, employed at an East Sixty-seventh street garage, said he saw two boys leave the garage with the clubs. Believing they had stolen them from a car in the garage, he ran after them. The boys dropped the clubs and escaped.

Hope placed the clubs in a safe place in the garage. Last night he read of the loss of Jones' clubs and turned them over to the police. They were identified as belonging to Jones by Fred W. Trabold, from whose automobile they had been stolen.

Jones returned to Atlanta yesterday. He had expressed concern over loss of the clubs, as they included his famous putter, "Calamity Jane," and his favorite driver.

TOURNEY DATE ANNOUNCED AT CHARTIERS

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

With holiday golf continuing over the week-end, Western Pennsylvania is getting more of the links game right now than it has had since the height of last season.

Walter H. Mennigke, chairman of the house committee at the Chartiers Heights Country Club, has announced that club's first one-day invitation tournament for Wednesday, September 11. Play will be at medal, with divisions according to handicap.

Chartiers Heights is making elaborate arrangements for the event even at this early date, and it is anticipated a large, strong field will be entered. Chartiers Heights is in better shape than ever previously, and will be at its top in early September.

The regular Saturday afternoon play on local courses tomorrow will be cut down somewhat after the Decoration Day program of yesterday, although regular Saturday afternoon sweepstakes are carded at virtually all of the clubs.

Abe Blumenthal of the Westmoreland Country Club will hold a golf and dinner party for 35 at the Verona layout on Monday.

The next women's tournament is a team league match, and it will see Section 2 squads participating in their second round matches at the Shannopin Country Club.

The caddiemasters and assistant professionals will participate in a tourney at the Alcoma Country Club Tuesday.

St. Vincent's Wins Over Kiski, 4 to 1

BEATTY, Pa., May 31.—The St. Vincent College team won from Kiski here yesterday, 4 to 1, in the presence of the largest crowd of the year. Toner limited the Saltsburg athletes to six hits, Stockdale getting a home run for the only score.

McGrady was the hitting star for St. Vincent, although Murphy came through with a drive out of the park.

ner upon the young Philadelphian in view of the terrible strain under which the event was finished after William Spence lost his life and five other drivers had narrow escapes.

A driver of this district, Speed Gardner, of New Kensington, also shared largely in the race honors by capturing fifth place under such trying conditions that only 12 of the 33 starters finished the race.

THE big I. C. A. A. A. A. annual track and field meet gets under way at Franklin Field in Philadelphia tomorrow and it will not be surprising if some new marks are contributed to the record books. In spite of the increased strength that has been claimed for the colleges of the East and Middle West this year, indications point strongly to another triumph for the Far West. Stanford University has won the meet twice in succession, and unless there is a big upset in form that school probably will make it three in a row by amassing the greatest number of points today and tomorrow. The Californians look superior in the field events and good enough to get at least an even break with any rival in the track contests.

Napoleon II Wins In Straight Heats

Napoleon II, entered in the pacing event, was the only straight heat winner of the inaugural program of the Schenley Matinee Club at Schenley Oval yesterday. McKay drove the black gelding to triumphs over Walter M. and Silent Lou. The times, 1:05, 1:03¾ and 1:03½, were considered good.

Goldie A. won the opening race, a trot or pace, taking two out of three heats. Sam Russell won the fourth race in split heats and Ralph Harvester took the trot. The results follow:

BROTHER PAUL APPRECIATES LOYAL FANS

Paul Waner has not issued any statement on the matter, but you can mark it down with emphasis that the great little hitter from Oklahoma is deeply grateful to the fans of Pittsburgh who applauded him daily while he was in the throes of a batting slump.

Now that Brother Paul has come unto his own again, he is happy, and so are his mates. Neither of the Waner boys can point to a player in the game who is not for them. Lack of spring training probably militated against the older of the two athletes after the strenuous race started, but his admirers in Pittsburgh had nothing for him but encouragement. And he is the kind that appreciates such treatment.

HITS TO RIGHT

When Paul came up to the Pirates several years ago, a Coast League observer declared that he was at his best when pulling his drives to right field. The slugger's homer that won yesterday's second fight was driven into the right-center pocket and he pulled two singles into the same field in the morning, not to mention his three-bagger to right center in the first game of the series.

The Pirates had to win two out of three from the Cubs to stay on top, in the face of the Redbirds' achievements over the slipping Reds. All that the St. Louis entry needs to be dangerous all the way is good pitching, for aside from their pitchers they have one of the best clubs in the sport.

The Cubs, it would appear, are suffering from the loss of Leo Hartnett, one of the game's greatest catchers. When the bubbling over catcher is in action, the Bruins stand out as a grand attraction; they present a fascinating front now with Hornsby, Cuyler, Grimm and Wilson in action each day, but a great catcher can make almost any club look better.

CUBS NEED LEFTY

The Chicago directors may have blundered during the winter in their failure to land another lefthand hitter, and a hitter of this type who could play an infield position. The third-base post has been giving Marse Joe trouble ever since he took charge of the club.

The morning attendance at Forbes Field set a new record for forenoon games at the Oakland Orchard. The Pittsburgh officials gave the figure at 27,000. The 30,000 is far from being an afternoon record, yet the total for the day was a big triumph for the sport hereabouts, although this total was not a record for one day. The local owners say that about 60,000 is the high figure for a day.

YANKS DEFEAT CUBANS IN CUP PLAY

DETROIT, May 31.—(AP.)—Led by Johnny Hennessey, of Indianapolis, and Johnny Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., the United States virtually assured itself of victory in the American zone finals of the Davis Cup tennis competition by winning the opening two singles matches from Cuba here yesterday.

Hennessey defeated Capt. Ricardo Morales, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4. Van Ryn trounced Gustavo Vollmer, 6-0, 6-1 and 6-1.

The victories force the United States to win but one of the three remaining matches.

Van Ryn scored the easiest victory, vanquishing Vollmer, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1, but Hennessey, who decided to experiment his chop and forenand strokes, when he saw an easy victory, was more extended, winning 6-0, 6-3, 6-4.

Handicapped by the faster American balls and a livelier court than they were accustomed, the Cubans were no match for the United States stars. Only 10 of the 45 games in both matches were forced to deuce and of these extra-time games, Van Ryn and Hennessey won seven, bearing down with a back court game that bewildered the Cubans and caught them off their guard.

SLUGGING BALL CLUB

The Y. M. C. A. Baseball Club, of Fitzgerald, Ga., scored a total of 65 runs to their opponents' nine in the first five games played this season.

All identification marks were removed from these eight straws. Four were $2.25—$2.85 Kaufman Hats. Four were $5—$6 hats. The men tried to pick the Kaufman Hats from the high-priced hats. They couldn't tell them apart. The score:

MORGANTOWN, May 31.—(AP.)—West Virginia yesterday defeated Davis & Elkins College, 6 to 2, in the closing game on the intercollegiate card. The victory gave the Mountaineers runner-up position for the state college title, Marshall having gained the top by trimming West Virginia twice.

FERGUSON RELEASED

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP.)—Alex Ferguson, veteran right-handed pitcher, has been released outright to Buffalo of the International League, the Brooklyn Robins announced yesterday between the games of the doubleheader against the Giants. Jim Patterson, also a pitcher, was sent to the Macon club of the South Atlantic League on option.

BRIDGEVILLE DRIVER HURT; SHAW WINS

Wilbur Shaw, behind the wheel of a Miller Special, won the 100-mile Memorial Day automobile race at the Bridgeville speedway, averaging 67:416 miles per hour for the 200-lap grind. His time was 1:29. Shorty Cantlon, Akron, was second; Speed Truesfale, third and Joe Baker, fourth and last in the money.

One accident marred the race. Cantlon, who eventually placed second, tried to pass Andy Marshall on the Hundred and Sixty-fifth lap. The rear wheels of the cars collided, both machines shot into the air and Marshall's rolled over, through the guard rail and into the infield. Cantlon regained miraculous control of his car and finished the race.

DRIVER INJURED

Marshall, who had been able to get clear of his bounding machine, was seriously, but not fatally, injured and was rushed to the Mayview Hospital where it was reported that the X-ray pictures showed no fractures. Marshall is suffering from head and body lacerations.

Shaw took the lead almost from the start and held it until the eighty-seventh lap when he was called from the track and reprimanded by W. M. Mears, A. S. A. representative, for daring driving. This caused him to lose the lead to Jack Casey, who was driving Cantlongs car at the time, but he came back, raced neck and neck until the one hundred and seventy-seventh lap, when Casey was forced to the pit with tire trouble and Shaw went out in front to victory.

A crowd of about 10,000 witnessed the race.

SCOTT IN FIRST

MONONGAHELA, Pa., May 31.—(AP.)—Orville Scott, Brownsville, driving a Ford, won the 100-mile stock car race over the Monongahela speedway yesterday. His time was 2:22. Seven of the 18 entries started and six finished.

Bob Landgraff, Pittsburgh, in a Nash, finished second, a few feet behind Scott. Walter Edder, Perrysville, driving an Oakland, was third and two brothers, Emrich and Bob Sabina, Pittsburgh, in a Gardner eight, were fourth.

Landgraff probably would have won the race but for a piece of bad luck. While leading by two laps, a wheel crumpled and he was forced to his pit to put on a new one. He got back into the race and was rapidly overhauling Scott at the finish.

A small crowd watched the race.

GILMORE VICTOR

EBENSBURG, Pa., May 31.—(AP)—John Gilmore, of Somerset, yesterday won the 100-mile dirt track automobile racing classic on the Ebensburg Fair Grounds oval. His time was 2:08. Gilmore did not make a stop during the entire race.

Morris Larden, Tarentum, was second, finishing four minutes after Gilmore. Art Stewart, Greensburg, was third and Earl Johnson, Tarentum, fourth.

BYERS APOLLO WINNER

APOLLO, Pa., May 31. — George Byers, of Imperial, was the winner of the 50-mile Memorial Day automobile race staged here yesterday, H. W. Aiken, of New Kensington, was second and Jack McFadden, Warren, third.

GRAYS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL

The Homestead Grays, Stowe, Immaculate Heart and the Reineckers divided holiday double bills yesterday in feature sandlot encounters, while Pitcairn, Edgewood, Homewood and Parnassus were among the teams able to win two games.

The Grays, blanked 3 to 0 by the Lincoln Giants in the morning, came back in the afternoon and slammed out an 11-to-4 victory. By virtue of the split triumph, the Grays retained second place in the American Negro League.

Stowe Civics defeated the crack W. O. W. team, another Rocks club, 6 to 2, but lost in the second test by 6 to 1. Immaculate Heart defeated the Dan Heeps, 4 to 3, and then lost 8 to 3.

Homewood took two from Verona, both by scores of 8 to 2. Pitcairn beat Butler, 6 to 3 and 9 to 8, and Edgewood trimmed the Iroquois, 9 to 2 and 6 to 3.

Grove City Star Misses Track Record

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 31.—A two-yard penalty at the start prevented William Bohlander, Grove City High athlete, from breaking into the nine-second class in the 100-yard dash here, yesterday, when the youngster took part in the Mercer County scholastic track meet.

Bohlander penalized twice for beating the gun, stepped the 102 in 10 seconds flat. He featured the meet which was won by Grove City for the second straight year.

The college town boys totaled 52 points, Sharon, 26 3-10; Sharpsville, 18 1-10 and Sandy Lake, 7 3-5.

Secrets of Personal Magnetism Found Here and They Are Available to All.

What is it that distinguishes a woman here and there from her sisters, and lifts her into prominence, makes her popular with all people and gives her wonderful opportunity for usefulness? A woman to be useful in this world must be attractive—she cannot be sallow of skin, dull of eye, lethargic in mind, and at the same time wield influence over the people around her or draw to her those whom she would like to attract.

The question of attraction and influence over other people is very largely a question of good health. That radiant magnetism which draws friends and compels the adoration of loved ones is, after all, largely a matter of the correct workings of the digestive tract.

One can look into the faces of a thousand women one might meet on the street, and see the dull disappointment, and if he is a practiced reader of faces, can tell why these women are unhappy. Their bodies are not functioning normally, and their blood, instead of nourishing the skin and bringing the sparkle to the eye, is laden with the impurities of stagnation. Sometimes the stagnation manifests itself in the form of catarrhal troubles, to which women are peculiarly liable. These troubles do not get well of themselves. They bring about a vicious cycle of unpleasant symptoms, because every catarrhal center infects the blood with its own poisons.

The cleansing of the blood stream cannot be done except by the proper stimulation of the great filters of the body—the liver and kidneys. When they are lazy, good health is impossible. But that is no reason to despair, and no reason why nine out of ten women who go about bearing the marks of impure blood cannot restore to themselves the brilliancy of good health and the magnetic qualities of a strong body. It is simply a matter of clearing away the wastes that defile the body, and stimulating the organs to proper activity—of dispelling the congestion or inflammation that relates to catarrh.

The experience of thousands shows that this is best done by the new prescription known as World's Tonic, which is the result of a profound study of these conditions. Treatment with this tonic brings about the proper regulation of the liver, kidneys and bowels. It helps remove the centers of congestion, because it enables these great filters to clear away the blood poisons. It helps restore tone to the entire body, and it enables one to acquire the habit of good health with abundant energy and attractive appearance. You will find a treatment of World's Tonic will help you. It can be obtained at all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch), or any other good drug store. (A-45)

Eve Reads of Don's Success And Contemplates Going To Visit Him

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting goes to Hawaii after he discovers that his wife, Eve, is carrying on an affair with George Phillips, a neighbor. On landing in the island he is accosted by a native, David Nahuli, who offers him $2,000 for delivering a black bag. In carrying out this mission he meets Eugenie, Nahuli's white wife. Then in wandering about Don Carlos meets Selma Wilson, crippled mother of an unusual family, which includes a daughter, Ruth. The latter plans a companionate marriage with Al Harding, much to the disgust of her father, Big Tim Wilson. Nahuli orders him to carry the black bag again. Eugenie invites him to her cottage on Tantalus Hill. She tells him he has been delivering opium and warns him. Among revelations is that Nahuli forced her to marry him to save her father from prison. Don Carlos spends his time working on a play from which he expects success. He and Eugenie fall in love. On Ruth's wedding day Big Tim goes on a vacation—disgusted. Then David learns of the affair between his wife and Don Carlos.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"I WOULD warn you to be careful, Eugenie," Nahuli retorted, "That little matter of your father. The authorities have never dropped the claim of the death of Ed Swanson. A charge could be preferred against him even after this stretch of years. You must not forget that there were witnesses to this little brawl, my Eugenie. Your humble servant, for instance." He bowed in mock servility.

Defiance flashed from her eyes.

"And how would you explain the fact that you have kept silent all these years? Dare you risk questioning by the authorities? I tell you that I have about come to the end of the road with you, David Nahuli."

The authorities—they mean little to me. Money buys power. Never forget that, my wife. Back of me is a powerful organization, more completely welded together than any political organization. Those of us who walk shady paths must needs have a bright vision. And money can buy even that."

"Bah! You have been about the Chinese so much that your nature has become saturated with their deadly philosophy. Even your tones reminded me of them; suave, subtle. I hate you David Nahuli, with a loathing I never dreamed that I could feel for any mortal. Won't you let me have my freedom? I tell you I won't be responsible for my actions if you keep me chained to you much longer."

"So the daughter of Capt. Delacroix fain would travel in his footsteps? You threaten me, my dear wife? The plot thickens. Suppose it should be whispered, discreetly, to the authorities, that the young and budding genius who has taken Honolulu by storm is, aside from being an author, also an opium runner by profession. You know that he has accepted money from us. Would you also ruin his career? Is that the sort of love you have for him, my dear? You do not fool me."

She was in a trap, and only he had the key to it.

Well, she must carry on. That he would ruin the life of Don Carlos, she knew full well. Even with her silence, she knew that the man she loved was in danger.

"Some day, David Nahuli, your power will end."

He only shrugged his shoulders.

A week later the rose-covered shade above Eve's golden head was being adjusted so that she could read the evening paper better.

Sleep would not come easily tonight. Perhaps she had been drinking too heavily of late. One wild party had succeeded another rapidly. Her nerves were on edge.

She picked up the evening paper, which was lying on a chair, turned it over idly.

Her attention was caught by an article.

There it was—in black and white; the announcement of Don Carlos' success as a playwright. Humph! So the poor fool had hit it off at last!

She made some quick mental calculations. It was vacation time. She would prevail on George to give her the money for the trip to the islands, for the ostensible purpose of seeing Don Carlos about a divorce. That would sound plausible, she reasoned.

Don Carlos noticed that Eugenie was not happy these days! had a furtive look about her which he did not like. It was so unlike her to lose her poise; ordinarily she was not nervous.

"What is the matter, dear heart?" he questioned her when they met.

"Nothing—oh, nothing."

"But there is something that is bothering you. It's not like you to lie, Eugenie."

"Don't ask me, please. I cannot tell you."

"It's—Nahuli, isn't it? He's threatening you, isn't he?"

She could not meet his eyes.

"Eugenie! Look at me."

"Oh, Don Carlos, I am afraid. More than I have ever been."

"Tell me about it, dear. There must be some way by which we can get you out of it all."

"He has gone to my father and told him of our affair, threatened him with the police. And my father is so ill, so feeble—to have this come up now. I know that he means trouble, for detectives have been coming to the house, questioning me. Oh, I don't know what to do."

"It can't go on much longer in this fashion, Eugenie. You're getting thin from the worry of it, and it—it upsets me, seeing you so unhappy. I've a good notion to turn him over to the authorities."

"WESTWARD, HO!" Two Girls in a Pullman

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

THROUGH the landscape the train flies. To the walker who goes to dinner from coach to coach it seems to be the landscape that flies. He walks, the train rushes, the landscape, his tremendous country, flies. All this sharpens his wits, burnishes the metal of his brain, stirs his heart. We mean to say, he sees and thinks. Forward seven coaches to breakfast, and back. Up again seven coaches for lunch—if you are not trying to flatten instead of fatten—and back. March seven coaches again for dinner, enjoy in the blaze of a prairie sunset, the coffee drunk with the romantic purple twilight rising from the land toward the stars. And America flying by; every moment a picture left behind.

All this makes some folks think. It makes them think the thoughts they thought when they were little children—well, such as: "While I'm going to beddy-bye in the North American prairie the Chinese children are getting up!" Or—grown-up thoughts—well, such as, if you are a man: "Gosh, what chaps our ancestors were—THEY WALKED this—; all the wealth in the ground then, like buried treasure, now it's on the surface to spend, all those darling fellows' fault. And I'M afraid to get left five miles outside a town without my grips!" And if you are a woman: "I remember the little old woman who came across here when she was a girl, with her new husband and their old English silver, the baby she rode with on her lap and left somewhere under the buffalo-grass—'somewhere,' truly, to the little mother who could never have found the place again." And if you are a girl: "Isn't it marvelous to travel! I hope I can be successful and make a lot of money in this world so I can see all the world. Who CAN that perfectly miraculous young man be?" And if a boy: "It's great to travel! I hope I'll be successful and make a heap of money in this old world so I can see all of it before I marry. Who do you suppose that fearfully pretty girl is?"

BUT! There is a young person—strange person to be young and still not be thrilled to SEE—who pulls down the shades on the train in a new country! She has never in her short life seen the desert—that strange landscape of color, tremulous air, cruelty and almost unknown history—and yet she slept and read behind dark windows all through the time the train traversed it and it fled by. She STILL has never seen it. Fine blue eyes shut tight upon Wonders of the World. We roared across splendid bridges—and far from her was the thought of the romance of the figures that stood behind the bridge! For she didn't see it.

Five steps beyond her another girl, just as "young" looking, just as trifling of shoe and frock, sat with shades to the sky, drinking in the world of green plain, blue mountain, brown field, silver river, the boy on the platform of the village station, the brown girl driving a dusty car and leading a horse, the ranch of tiny island of green alfalfa and huddled trees in the dry sea of the desert, its precious windmill whirling gaily in the center, all the world flying by.

One girl—and she had seen it all before—had Eyes and—Curiosity. The other—and the world she was going through was new—had Eyes and—Apathy.

Cultivate curiosity about the world you live in! It will make an attractive girl out of the plainest.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

Her Reward By ELEANOR WILMOT Short Story

BOB HENDRICKS had barely seated himself in his Pullman chair before he discovered that the passenger opposite was a singularly attractive one.

Her hair was of a rich golden tint, and her complexion naturally lovely without artificial aid. Bob thoroughly approved with the simple, trim and modish, jade green costume, tan silk hosiery, and patent leather pumps which the girl was wearing.

Her luggage was of the best and was modestly lettered, "L. A. H." Bob wondered what those letters stood for, and he made up his mind to find out if finding out were possible.

But there seemed to be no excuse of any reasonable kind to seek an introduction—not until her pocketbook slipped off her lap and lay almost in the aisle unnoticed, due to its owner's apparent absorption in the magazine she was reading.

Of course Bob jumped to the rescue of the handbag, and returned it to its owner in his very best manner. The young lady smiled—and Bob admitted to himself that her smile was heavenly.

His heart jumped so that he didn't quite understand her murmured expression of gratitude, but he did know her voice was like the sound of silver bells. And gazing about wildly for an excuse to prolong the conversation, he asked if he might occupy the vacant chair next her, rather lamely claiming that the scenery on this side was much finer than on his. If Bob referred to the vision of loveliness in the next chair, he was right. If he referred to the rocky cow pasture on the outside, he was wrong.

The girl's magazine, fortunately, was one he had just finished reading, and so he was able to inquire what she thought of this article and that story, and as so often happens with young people, they were soon enjoying themselves greatly discussing the contents of that periodical which neither of them really cared a hoot about.

Bob managed to find an excuse for handing her his card, and telling something of his interests, and the college from which he had been graduated.

"L. A. H." was evidently much interested. But there was a mischievous expression in her eyes and one of complete innocence on her countenance, for every time Bob opened the door for her to tell something of herself, she sidestepped neatly.

Bob even told where he was going to get off, and a minute later he could have kicked himself for his stupidity, for she smilingly expressed regret that she would be obliged to go considerably beyond that destination.

If it hadn't been for that, the young man with the chestnut hair, clear-cut, tan features, and strong, clever-looking hands, would have gone right on to the jumping off place or wherever "L. A. H." elected should be her stopping place.

But with all his shrewdness and finesse, he did not seem to be able to gain one iota of information about this lovely young lady, and as the train entered his station, he gathered up his belongings and decided to make a bold stroke.

"May I not know," he remarked almost pleadingly, "the name of the girl who has made my journey such a short and delightful one?"

His brown eyes looked directly into her pansy blue ones, and he believed that she was about to accede to his request when an on-coming passenger (the train had come to a standstill) clapped him on the shoulder, called him "Old Top," and was annoyingly exuberant generally.

Bob turned angrily to find himself face to face with a fraternity brother he had never liked. When he looked around again, the girl had disappeared into the drawing room just beyond where she had intimated she had friends.

Bob had just time to get off before the train moved on, and his humor was far from the best.

In the meantime the young lady was bidding her friends good-by, for her own destination was not more than 20 miles farther on. She was half regretting that she had been quite so reticent, for she had really liked Bob Hendricks very much. But she had been trained by a careful mother that she must never make a pick-up acquaintance with strange men on public conveyances.

A little over an hour later "L. A. H." was signing her name—Letitia Aloie Hamilton—in the hotel register of the Huntley Arms, a rather conservative hotel in the town of Wilma, where she had arrived to take a position as physical director in a private school for girls.

She retired early to be ready for next day. Besides, she knew no one as yet.

When she awoke, it was with a sense that something was happening, and opening her door a crack, she found a number of excited people in the hall, trying to force the door of a room at the end of the corridor.

Quickly she gathered that the smell of gas was escaping from that room, and no signs of life were forthcoming from the occupant. The heavy door was stoutly resisting the battering process from the outside.

Almost more quickly than it takes to tell it, Letitia banged her door shut, rushed to her own window, and in the moonlight, climbed swiftly out. It was a perilous trip along the coping and over the narrow ledge she had to pass, but her pink pajamas gave her great freedom, and her bare feet clung to the rough footing.

She daren't look down. Could she make it? A life was at stake. Whose, she knew not. She daren't go back, and so she kept on, and a great wave of thankfulness filled her heart as she reached the outside of the window of the end room.

The window was closed. She prayed that it would not be locked—and it yielded to her hand, rolling up easily!

The odor of escaping gas was stifling as Letitia crept over the window sill. She covered her nose with her hand, and sprinted across the room to the door, unlocking it and throwing it open, to the amazement of those on the outside — then Letitia fainted!

The next morning as she entered the dining room, she came face to face with Bob Hendricks. He came to her at once, and without the least hesitation, took her hands in his own.

"I was summoned here," he said, "by the condition of my foster father whose life you saved last night. The register told me your name, and I was sure you were the 'L. A. H.' of yesterday's journey — especially when they described you. I ought to be afraid of the heroine about whom the whole town is talking, but you must let me prove my gratitude to you—you wonderful, wonderful girl!"

"Let's forget the gratitude," Letitia giggled, "and continue our acquaintance where we dropped it."

"And you'll never run away again?"

"Never — no, never," laughed the girl Bob had lost and found so unexpectedly.

CIRCUS SCENE, WAR STORY ON AIR

Chinatown Feature, Actors' Rally and Strauss Music Among Other Attractions

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

Color dominates radio programs tonight with an Oriental scene in San Francisco, a musical story of the world war, a visit to the circus grounds, an actual thespian rally in New York, the opening of a mammoth convention hall in Atlantic City, and the concluding performance of "The Count of Luxembourg."

Mary and Bob, WJAS at 9, attend a Chinese festival in the Pacific Coast city, but there is no kidnaping or tong war. It is just a demonstration of Oriental customs with extraordinary musical effects.

"Guns" is the subject of the story in a Song, over WJAS, at 8 o'clock. It will depict happenings in the World War.

Donald Brian, Daniel Frohman and other good actors will do a bit over the WEAF network at 7 o'clock in behalf of their annual show. WCAE is the local outlet.

WCAE and WJAS at 10 p. m., will broadcast the ceremony attending the convention hall opening at Atlantic City, including addresses by Vice President Charles Curtis and Sir Esme Howard and music by Creatore's Band.

Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More will bring the "Count of Luxembourg" to a close at 9:50 through KDKA, while the Challengers, over the same station at 10, will conclude their program series with Von Tilzer songs.

The Viennese waltz king, Johann Strauss, will be represented in the Slumber Music, KDKA, at 11, with such well-known numbers as "Beautiful Blue Danube," "The Gypsy Baron" ad "Persian March."

Gems from "Rose Marie," the Cavaliers singing "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and "Just a Song at Twilight" and Henry Burr's solo of "Good Night Little Girl, Good Night" will characterize a special anniversary concert of the Cities Service Orchestra over WCAE at 8 o'clock. It's a good bet.

OLD BATTLE CRY.
"Hey Rube," the old battle cry which summoned circus folk to the defense of their property when ruffians attacked the tents and wagons, will resound again tonight.

The veteran circus man will recount some thrilling and dramatic tales of famous fights between circus hands and vandal townsmen who tried to break up shows.

MARTIAL BACKGROUND.
"Guns," composed by Geoffrey O'Hara, best-known as the author of "There is No Death," will be the melody. Mr. O'Hara, who himself took part in the last great conflict, did not write "Guns" until last year.

The drama is based on the recent great war. The scene will be laid on the battlefields of France, and, although it is principally a drama of fighting a thread of wartime romance will be woven through it and will furnish a half-hour of exciting entertainment.

CHINESE FESTIVAL.
Mary and Bob Will reach San Francisco just in time for a Chinese Festival. The mystery of the Orient envelopes Chinatown as the fiery dragon weaves its way through the narrow streets. The clash of Chinese music accompanies the procession and will add a graphic touch to the scene.

In the group of young Americans who have gathered to witness the Oriental pageant is an older woman, a lonely woman, once a great singer. Strangely drawn to the two young folks, she tells them of the "Price She Paid for Fame," and they, in turn, will tell this tale to the audience.

BULL OUTBURST HALTS STOCK DECLINE

Reaction Checked After Scores of Favorite's Are Hammered Down

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP.)—Persistent but unconfirmed reports that a few of Wall Street's large operators had taken terrific losses in the recent decline, and that at least one of them had been "taken over" in a pool specialty, brought about a drastic decline in prices in the early part of today's market. Scores of issues were hammered down 2 to nearly 9 points, with such recent favorites as General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, International Combustion and Wright Aeronautical sinking to new low levels for the year.

The reaction finally was checked around midday by a fresh outburst of bullish enthusiasm in the rails and public utilities, several of which were marked up to new high records by gains running as high as 7 points. Strength of these groups led to heavy covering in the general industrial list, recoveries of 1 to 4 points being quite common in the early afternoon.

WHEAT BREAKS

Early selling also was influenced by a further break in Chicago wheat prices, which followed the sharp decline in Winnipeg yesterday.

Rails again responded to the appearance of fresh buying power under the leadership of Atchison, which ran up 8¾ points to a new high at 225¾. New Haven crossed 106 for the first time in years and Canadian Pacific ran up more than 8 points. Missouri Pacific common, Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Erie, Union Pacific, Frisco common, Great Northern preferred and Lehigh Valley sold 3 to 4 points higher.

There was no change in credit conditions, call money renewing at 6 per cent and holding steady at that figure despite the heavy month-end demand for funds.

American Water Works, soaring 6 points to a new peak at 107, assumed the leadership of the public utility group. Western Union climbed 8 points, Abitibi Power 6½ and American Power and Light, Commonwealth Power, and North American advanced 6 or more points.

SLUMPS WIDE

In the early break, Commercial Solvents fell 8½ points, Case Threshing 8, Marmon Motors 7⅝, Sears Roebuck 7, Wright Aeronautical 6⅝, Vanadium Steel 6½, Electric Auto Lite 6⅝, General Electric and Superior Steel 6¼ and Johns Manville, Ingersoll Rand, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Advance Rumely common, International Combustion, Packard Motors, Westinghouse Electric and American Machine and Foundry 4 points or more.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, May 31.—Wheat values dropped early today to new low record prices, owing to sharp setbacks in price at Winnipeg yesterday, while United States markets were closed. In a general rush of selling, corn, oats and rye today also went under previous bottom levels. Breaks in the Winnipeg wheat market were attributed here to predictions that German import duties would be raised, and to further rains beneficial to Canadian crops. Opening at 1⅝ to 3⅝ off, Chicago wheat later held near to the initial range. Corn started 1 to 2¼ lower, and afterward fluctuated irregularly. Provisions likewise tended downward.

Although selling out on the part of owners of future delivery contracts was much in evidence today in all grain pits here, buying became broader on the downward swing of prices, and checked declines before values tumbled as far as either at Winnipeg or Liverpool. Buying here was based largely on the ground that the price downturns had been too fast, and were unwarranted in view of recent drastic declines.

It was pointed out also that the Liverpool cash wheat market today showed no such severe setback as did quotations on future deliveries there. Much of the buying of wheat futures in Chicago was for previous sellers who were in a position to collect profits. Much selling came about through stop-loss orders, because of severe declines at Winnipeg, and apparent dearth of important new export business in wheat from North America.

Breathing Spell Needed.

Aside from the unusually high money rates, intermittent periods of money tension and the uncertain agricultural outlook, there are apparently no factors to disturb seriously business confidence, or to precipitate a business depression, says the First National Bank of Boston. Nevertheless, a lull in industrial activity would be a constructive influence in that it would permit a better appraisal of the situation than is possible during a period of feverish activity. Furthermore, a slackening in output will be necessary for a number of industries in order to avoid overproduction with its resultant clogging of markets and in turn depression in prices. Fortunately, business today is in a good position, because of the mass of statistical information available on practically all phases of activity, to keep factory output within reasonable bounds of consumers' demands. While we may be in a new industrial era, yet it doesn't seem possible that our consumers' markets can be sharply expanded and then maintained at a record level for an indefinite period to keep pace with the output of our factories operating at virtual capacity. It is true that great strides have been made, especially during the past decade, in the distribution of wealth on a broad basis. But it is a question whether the consumption requirements of 120,000,000 people can be so adjusted to maintain a maximum output of our factories. On the other hand, consumers' demands along some lines change quickly, and these in turn call for adjustments in our industrial set-up. In consequence of the above factors a "breathing spell" is highly desirable for corrective purposes.

The Farm Situation.

Despite the spectacular decline in the quoted values of wheat and other grains this spring, agricultural leaders, bankers and the press in regions of the West and Northwest most vitally affected, are confident that business will carry on at a high level for the next four to six months and look forward to a continuance of prosperity, according to a survey just completed for the Willys-Overland Company, manufacturers of Willys-Knight and Whippet automobiles. This confidence in the immediate future of the farmer from Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, north into Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas, is based principally on three factors—greater diversification of crops; larger profits from record production of hogs and cattle, dairy products and poultry, and the fact that a large portion of wheat and other cereal supplies are in the hands of speculative interests, the Willys-Overland survey shows. Although bankers and newspaper investigators conceded that the slump in wheat will adversely affect buying power in some sections, they declare that it is not the leading factor it has been in the past due to more diversified farming. A leading economist in Chicago, who has been studying the situation, points out for example that speculative interests hold 200,000,000 bushels of old wheat and farmers only about 80,000,000 bushels.

Russian Oil.

In an article written from Moscow to Baron's Financial Weekly, Alzada Comstock predicts a pronounced increase in the exports of Russian oil. "Rationalization, the now familiar European term for modern methods, especially mechanization and scientific management, is proceeding rapidly in the Russian oil fields and accounts in large part for the rapid progress of the industry. The change in methods has rescued Russian oil from the depression which has lasted for 20 years." The truce between the Soviet and British oil interests has given a fresh stimulus to the Russian oil industry, "which has already gained third place in world production, passing Mexico and standing next to the United States and Venezuela." The Russian has several advantages over the American oil industry: it has to do less drilling to extract a given quantity of oil; it is free from wild-catting, and it has the advantage of low costs and of special grants from the national treasury."

West Penn Electric Output.

The West Penn Electric Company, which controls the electric subsidiaries of the American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., reports power output to regular consumers of 155,970,008 kilowatt hours for the month of April, 1929, an increase of 10.28 per cent over the output of 141,430,440 kilowatt hours for the month of April, 1928. For the first four months of 1929 power output to regular consumers totaled 627,710,306 kilowatt hours, which is greater by 9.10 per cent than the output for the corresponding period of 1928, which was 575,355,611 kilowatt hours.

Australia Big Film Market.

Hardly any spot on the globe is too tiny or too isolated to import some quantity of American moving pictures in each month. In the last 30-day period covered by recorded customs figures, Australia was shown to be the best single customer for the American movie, and took 2,217,503 feet of exposed film. The French import, another large one, was 2,145,172 feet, while large South American countries, like Argentina and Brazil, had 1,466,000 and 1,632,000 feet, respectively.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 31.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 11 points, with the active months selling 10 to 15 points net higher during the early trading and covering and local or commission house buying promoted by overholiday reports of rains and overflows in the Southwest and firm Liverpool cables. The advance met a good deal of realizing, however, and after selling up to 10.62, new October contracts reacted to 18.53, or within 5 points of yesterday's closing quotations. Trading was only moderately active, with the market quiet at the end of the first half hour.

Private cables reported covering, trade calling and Bombay buying in the Liverpool market on the Texas rain news, but said the advance had met local selling on disappointing election results.

The market lost its opening advance later in the morning under realizing and liquidation, which appeared to be influenced by weakness in the grain markets and the unsettled tone of the stock market. October declined to 18.45c with active months generally selling about 3 to 5 points net lower before the end of the morning. At midday the market was quiet but rather steadier with the active months ruling 2 or 3 points above last Wednesday's closing quotations.

Do Inland Waterways Pay? More New Ones Proposed.

By B. C. FORBES

DOES it actually cost less to carry freight on inland waterways than on railroads? and should proposed expenditures of additional hundreds of millions of dollars on developing inland wafer facilities be gone throu h with?

What E. E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, said in criticism of artificial inland waterways in this column has brought vigorous protests.

The claim is made that all inland waterways do not pay any more than do all railroads, but that most do and various additional waterway projects should be undertaken.

A deep sea level canal across northern Florida is advocated. Also the development of the Allegheny river to benefit western Pennsylvania which is "fighting for its industrial life."

LET Mr. Loomis' critics speak for themselves. Says Malcom R. McAdoo, consulting engineer, Tampa, Florida:

"Mr. Loomis is right in his statement, as shown by the operating results, that there is no need for artificial waterways such as the New York state barge canal closed four to five months every year because of ice.

"The Mississippi—Warrior waterway, erroneously called by Mr. Loomis an artificial waterway, is not adopted to the handling of deep sea commerce. It is a shallow intracoastal waterway paralleling the Gulf of Mexico in the shallow bays between the islands of the Gulf Coast and the main land. It is for barge traffic only.

"The building of the Panama Canal was opposed by the railroads but no one today will deny its great economic value and strategic importance to the country, and its value to the world.

"There is great need for the improvement of the Mississippi river and its tributaries that the vast agricultural products of the Mississippi river valley states may be transported to the market at the lowest reasonable rates.

"There is also a need, which has been recognized for many years, for a practical deep sea level canal, for sea going and all other classes of vessels, across the northern part of the Florida Peninsula to save distance and operating costs and to avoid the long and dangerous trip around the Florida keys. Such a canal, less than one hundred miles in length—shorter than the Suez Canal—will save 583 statute miles between New Orleans and New York City with proportionate savings between other gulf ports and New York City and Europeans ports.

"The gulf states and the Mississippi river valley states 'the vast heart of American agriculture,' to quote President Hoover, are interested in a deep sea level canal designed to care for alll classes of vessels across the northern part of the Florida Peninsula and not in shallow canals or waterways permitting barge traffic only.

"The water-borne commerce of Galveston Channel, including Houston, amounted to 19,577,647 short tons in 1927, Houston's improved or artificial waterway, as Mr. Loomis would term it, 50 miles in length to Galveston Channel, was completed in September, 1925, and by the end of 1927 Houston had become our seventh greatest seaport and the city enormously increased in population and became a great industrial center. This same result will follow in the northern part of Florida upon the completion of the canal. I propose and have designed."

L. H. GAVIN, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Oil City, Pennsylvania, in course of a very voluminous communication, says:

"Out of the five hundred river and harbor projects now under consideration or construction by the United States war department, Mr. Loomis picks out the only one, the New York state, barge canal, which has failed to profitably materialize because of lack of natural resources to draw upon, and for no other reason. But haven't any number or railroads been colossal failures?

"The railroads have persistently, for a great many years, throttled the development of our inland waterways because of fear of competition, and his article is merely an echo of what has gone on before.

"Mr. Loomis contends that the Mississippi Warrior barge line has been a failure. His statements are not facts, for after five years of operation it is a tremendous success, showing a clean profit of approximately $350,000 a year, and the earnings steadily mounting.

"We here in western Pennsylvania are fighting for our industrial life. The development of the Allegheny River means the industrial salvation of western Pennsylvania, as it gives us a trading area to the Gulf of Mexico with waterway improvements. It is cheaper to ship in tank boats from Los Angeles to New York than we can ship by rail from Oil City to New York, only 400 miles—1 1-26 per gallon, against our railway charge of 10 1-20 a gallon."

THE long and the short of it would seem to be that some inland waterway developments are justified, others not. Therefore, extreme care should be exercised by lawnmakers to avoid sanctioning projects calculated to aggravate our already heavy tax burdens.

BUGS BAER Says

FINDING THE CUBE ROOT OF ZERO.

SOME easily disputed facts from the debt factory in Europe.

We're not getting it. But we are reducing it.

Uncle Sam has accepted another 10 per cent clip on the financial chin.

Bring back our diplomats and send over a ventriloquist.

"Bugs" Baer

This seems to be a convention of attrition. Europe refuses to admit that the pelican is entitled to all the fish within his pouch.

Are we seeking to settle the affairs of the universe or are we trying to pick buttercups on a tin roof?

That 10 per cent operation means merely $30,000,000. Figure that out in blow-out patches.

We could have used that money to build a cyclone cellar for good-will ambassadors.

Thirty-million dollars ain't hay.

At the rate of 10 per cent evaporation with every conference, we are within nine reductions of peace.

This isn't the real war debt. This is only adjustment of the American Army of Occupation cost in arrears.

No Man's Land was certainly an expensive picnic grounds.

What we need in this trans-Atlantic flight of diplomats is a good old Nebraska hog-caller to call some of our bacon home.

We are willing to bet the crumbs from a birthday cake that there isn't a single American citizen who knows what the Paris conference is all about.

All he knows is that a lot of cannibalistic negative are chewing up a vegetarian affirmative.

He knows that our efficiency salesmen left all their samples home.

He also realizes that they measure international debt with a sliding scale on a greased plank.

And that hands across the sea should count their change before leaving the window.

But he doesn't know why the debt is being reduced nor why diplomtas wear high silk toppers in public and paper hats in private.

He doesn't know that fighting is merely the preamble to a conference. All he knows is that Europe owes us money and Europe is the queen land where they gave an architect a building permit to erect the leaning tower of Pisa.

A country where they construct buildings out of line is certain to do other things on the bias.

"Strip" Cases Collapse As Officials Are Freed

It is easy to charge conspiracy to violate the liquor laws to an extent indicating a widespread "rum ring," involving [illegible]s and others of prominence, but not so easy to prove [illegible]vernment has found in the long series of trials here, [illegible]only the less significant persons have had guilt affixed to them.

The latest evidence of this fact is the sudden collapse of "the Strip" trials, ended when five men changed their pleas to guilty and the government consented to the court nolle prossing cases against an assemblyman, several police officials and others, charged jointly with those who pleaded guilty.

Thus "the Strip," together with the South Side and North Side, is made to appear of lily whiteness in so far as collusion of officials and the retailers in the bootleg and speakeasy trade is concerned.

Testimony in the North Side and "Strip" trials indicated a general impression among the retailers that they were buying Thusandso's beer or Whatyoucallem's booze, but so devious were the transactions, with solicitation of orders by one person, delivery by another and collection of payment by still another, that it has appeared impossible to connect the illicit trade with any head, although obviously it must have had one —or several.

The implications that a strong liquor ring has been in operation here are many. Is the failure—it can be called that —of the government charges an indication that there is no ring or, rather, evidence that it much stronger, more firmly entrenched and more fully protected against detection, than it was supposed to be?

Canadian Power Supplied Much Cheaper Than Ours

[illegible]n comes a group of prominent American manufacturers complaining they need a higher tariff because they cannot compete with Canadian enterprises supplied with cheap electric power by the public-owned Hydroelectric Power Corporation of Ontario.

The applicant for protection is the National Sand and Gravel Association. It complains that the Canadian manufacturer gets electric power supplied him "approximately at cost." It complains that the American manufacturer must buy power from a private power corporation operated for profit. Therefore, the brief of the Sand and Gravel Association, presented to the House Committee, says, "The consequence is that the cost of power to the Ontario manufacturer is approximately 60 per cent of the cost of power to the American manufacturer."

When the Sand and Gravel Association speaks of the Canadians getting their power "approximately at cost," it must not be supposed that the public-owned Hydroelectric Power Commission is losing money. As a matter of fact, the lower Canadian rates by law are set high enough to pay all expenses of the public enterprise and supply a fund to retire its bonds within 30 years, after which time the power manufacturing and distributing plant will belong to the public free of charge.

We have long known that the domestic consumer got his electric current a good deal cheaper in Canada. The National Popular Government League recently made a compilation from official figures, proving that the average cost for household electricity in 32 selected cities in the United States was 7.4 cents per kilowatt-hour; in 21 selected Ontario cities it was 1.6 cents.

[illegible] the power people told us: The public-owned Cana[illegible]m gives these cheap rates to citizen consumers in [illegible]et votes. It makes up the loss by exorbitant charges [illegible]rial users, so we were told.

How is that to be reconciled with the real plight of American manufacturers of sand and gravel, burdened with power costs two-thirds higher than their rivals in Canada?

Another interesting fact might have been included in the brief of the distressed Americans. Because of freight charges, Ontario sand and gravel, even today when there is no tariff, can only be shipped a short distance across the American border. In this zone, American manufacturers are served by private utility corporations with Niagara Falls power, THE SAME POWER DISTRIBUTED 40 PER CENT CHEAPER TO ONTARIO MANUFACTURERS BY THE PUBLIC-OWNED HYDROELECTRIC COMMISSION.

Heavens, what will happen if the American people hear the facts about Ontario, and learn what we could do with our own water power resources if we retained and developed them ourselves instead of handing them over to corporations that rob us?

To distort and suppress the facts about public-owned water power is the heart and soul of the whole Power Trust propaganda. To this end they secretly hire or bribe professors, doctors, engineers, editors, publicists and legislators to deliberately misinform schools, colleges and the general public, control news and editorials regarding public versus exploitation of the people's water powers, is the main for this orgy of secret newspaper buying by the power corporation.

Give the people light and they will find their own way. Give them darkness and you can guide them with one hand and pick their pockets with the other.

Money, Not Advice Wanted

Britain's Attitude Toward America.

"The British government will in no circumstances entertain them." Thus Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, brushes aside Mr. Young's suggestions for a German settlement.

What Britain and the rest of Europe want from us is MONEY, not suggestions. Our financiers in Europe to discuss a German settlement might have known it, and might have saved their passage money.

If Uncle Sam's young men will suggest that American claims be wiped out, THAT suggestion will receive favorable consideration abroad. But it would not suit Herbert Hoover or Andrew W. Mellon.

The young man in the corner looked bored, and his host was touched. Picking up an opened box of cigars he walked across to his guest.

"Have a cigar?" he asked.

"No thanks. I don't smoke."

The other was rather surprised, but he tried again.

"Have a drink?"

"Never touch it."

"Well, let's go in with the girls and dance." And the host linked his arm in that of the young man.

"Sorry," hesitated the youth, "but I really don't dance, you know."

The other was dumbfounded.

"Look here," he concluded lamely, "my wife has a ball of wool and a couple of needles—what about a spot of knitting?

Just Till Morning

Johnny and his little sister had a quarrel and when night came they were still angry at each other. Mother succeeded in getting little sister to bury the hatchet, but Johnny refused to give in.

"But supposing your sister should die some time during the night. If you had not forgiven her, then how would you feel?" said mother.

Johnny thought for a moment and then said: "Well, all right, I forgive her. But if she is still alive tomorrow morning, I'll be madder'n ever."

Why?

Larkin was an impatient landlord, and when the rent from a certain tenant was two days overdue he sent the offender this very curt letter:

"Dear sir—I regret to inform you that my rent is overdue. Please remit same by return of post."

A day or two later Larkin received the following reply to his communication:

"Dear sir—I don't know of any reason why I should pay your rent. I can't even pay my own."

"Oh, never mind," says the teacher. "Come to think of it, I guess it's all right."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

A DEAR friend of mine has cancelled her subscriptions to all newspapers. She has done this because of the current discussions and criticisms of prohibition.

My friend is a woman of the highest ideals and tenderest sympathies. She has seen the havoc worked by drunkenness. She believes that prohibition is a divinely ordained plan for stopping drunkenness, and she sees in such discussion a defiance of the laws of God and nation.

The initial mistake made by my friend, and other "drys," is the assumption that prohibitionists are the only ones who condemn drunkenness. Many a "wet" has as great a horror of intemperance and is as conscientious an abstainer as any "dry." They fight prohibition not because they want saloons, but because they want sobriety and because they do not think that prohibition is furthering that end.

THEY DO NOT BELIEVE THAT OUR PRESENT FORM OF PROHIBITION IS KEEPING OR EVER CAN KEEP THE NATION SOBER.

If they occupy public positions, and they frequently do, they realize that our farce of enforcement is corrupting officials and giving the criminal element of the community a tragic opportunity to profit by our dissension.

THEY SEE THE AMAZING SPECTACLE OF PROHIBITIONISTS BEING USED AS DUPES BY CORRUPT OFFICERS AND BOOTLEGGERS.

AND THEY SEE A NATIONAL CRIME CRISIS BEING PRECIPITATED BY THE GROWING CONTEMPT FOR FEDERAL AUTHORITY.

Hence the prohibition discussion, which is both legal and necessary.

Prohibition is not a divine law, a sort of Volstead amendment to the Ten Commandments. It is merely a method—one of many possible methods—by which we hope to attain national sobriety.

Unfortunately, there were certain circumstances connected with the passage of the Volstead act which aroused the temper of the American people. Americans are a clean folk. They have no natural love for debauchery. They have always taken their stand on the side of decency. But they don't like to have anything put over on them. They feel that the Volstead act was unfairly put over by a small but powerful minority and that its passage violated constitutional rights. They are not for drunkenness, but they are against shinannigans and they have proceeded to express their displeasure in two ways—first, by open violation of the law—second by a concerted action to change it.

This effort to change the law is regarded as treason by ardent prohibitionists, who cry indignantly:

"Its a law—now we must obey it."

Such reasoning is well meaning but foolish. A democratic people have a right to revoke or amend any law which they may make, and to deny that right is to strike at the very roots of democracy.

It is not wrong to discuss prohibition.

It is not wrong to criticize prohibition.

It is not wrong to abolish prohibition if a better method can be found for attaining sobriety.

These are the rights of free men.

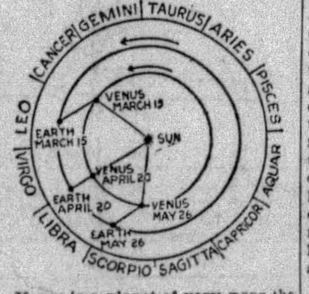
PASSING OF VENUS

By Garrett P. Serviss

THIS title does not mean we are going to lose Venus! No indeed! No such misfortune as that threatens the earth's star-gazers whose numbers are swelling and whose enthusiasm is growing every year. But the reference is to the passing of Venus out of the evening into the morning sky for another of her before-daylight appearances.



Venus is a planet of very near the same size as the earth, but she travels around the sun inside the earth's orbit, coming within about 25 of 26 millions of miles from us when she passes between the earth and the sun, as she did on April 20. Her mean distance from the sun is nearly 67,000,000 miles, while the earth's is near 93,000,000.

Light and heat vary in amount inversely as the square of the distance they travel. Compare the squares of 67 and 93 and you will find that on account of her relative nearness to the sun, Venus should be heated twice as much as the earth is by the solar rays unless there are some mitigating circumstances connected with her atmosphere. It appears that there are such circumstances, the most important perhaps being the existence of a greater proportion of water vapor on Venus than on the earth There are many facts which indicate that her atmosphere is more heavily cloud-laden than ours. This would tend to screen off the solar rays and amelicrate the climate.

Estimates differ concerning the density of Venus's atmosphere, but if it is as dense as some observations indicate, we may look upon Venus as the home par excellence of aviation of every sort. There, wings would be the most natural organs of locomotion. In the sea the majority of animals have fins, and other means of flotation, because water is so dense a medium that the animals inhabiting it have nearly the same specific gravity as that of their fluid environment. But our world of air is specifically so light that only some of the smaller creatures inhabiting it are able to rise from the ground and pass at least a part of their lives in the aerial world.

Even a creature endowed with so remarkable an intelligence as man's has hitherto had to spend uncounted millenia as helpless to avail himself of travel and transportation in the air, as fish are to live out of water. But suppose Venus to possess an atmosphere two or three times as dense as the earth's. In that case we may suppose that the inhabitants would discover and invent the means of flying ages before the same could be done on our light-aired planet. We have now at least stumbled into an application of mechanical force that is conquering for us a new world among the clouds, but the people of Venus may have perfected aerial machines for that purpose as long ago as when the first cave men begged shelter from terrestrial bears and tigers.

Bible Passages

Be Just and Upright

(Proverbs 11: 1-11.)

A FALSE balance is abomination to the Lord: but a just weight is his delight.

When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

The integrity of the upright shall guide them: but the perverseness of transgressors shall destroy them.

Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but righteousness delivereth from death.

The righteousness of the perfect shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall by his own wickedness.

The righteousness of the upright shall deliver them: but transgressors shall be taken in their own naughtiness.

When a wicked man dieth, his expectation shall perish: and the hope of unjust men perisheth.

The righteous is delivered out of trouble, and the wicked cometh in his stead.

An hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered.

When it goeth well with the righteous, the city rejoiceth: and when the wicked perish, there is shouting.

By the blessing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

This Unfaltering Belief

Strange how people have a way
Of still hoping on!
Fair hopes blighted yesterday . . .
New hopes bud with dawn!
Always rainbow promise bright
Lends to faith its lovely light.

Pitiful sometimes it seems
How men turn aside
From the memories of their dreams
When those dreams have died;
But they straighway build once more
Castles nobler than before.

Deeper far than any grief,
Stronger than defeat,
This unfaltering belief
That life's core is sweet;
This unswerving gallant trust
That the Plan is wholly just.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 31.—Thoughts while strolling: Whatever became of the hot salt bag for earache? Women who wash coats in gasoline and traipse around smelling like a Ford. Starched white collars coming back. One cafe heralds cole slaw, another cold slaw. Whatever they call it, it's just slaw.

Dudley Field Malone, a New York boy, who made good in his home town. A woman setting a mosaic design in a sidewalk. Wallace Thurman, a Negro with a hit play on Broadway and a successful novel to his credit. Wonder if girls in small towns also smoke while driving a car.

Jane Grant, who is Mrs. Harold Ross. And a Lucy Stoner. The West Indian doorman who braids his hair around his head like a Chinaman. Oscar O. Oscar is an expressman. And there's John Charles Thomas, a singer. The ornate dressing gowns you see only in Broadway windows. Self conscious stage folk. And so few notice them!

The hurdy gurdy driver with a white cockatoo on his shoulder. Bareheaded attention attractors. Cops who do not think they earn their money unless they bawl out taxpayers. Reading racks with electric lights for bathtubs. I prefer to sing.

Spanish-looking ladies with dark eyes and soiled necks. A chalet, chez and maison cafe in a single block on 52nd street. And look out for your embarrassement when the waiter speaks French! Secluded tea rooms where the woman goes alone. And the man sneaks up shortly in a taxi.

Phillip Hoyt who acts as police commissioner when Mr. Whalen goes away. And looks like a Lyendecker collar ad model. Miriam Hopkins. And Shaw and Lee who are always wondering whose hands are whose on the stage. A modern drug store advertises: "Free almanacs." And another drug store decorated by Urban.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., idling in front of a window of wrist watches. That shoe store with niches for busts of the most popular favorites in four branches of the theater—Ethel Barrymore, Marilyn Miller Mary Pickford and Rosa Ponselle. Who said so? And 10 gets you 20 they are not by a jugful.

The newest hotel in the Plaza fountain zone will shortly stand as a monument to Pierre, the restaurant man. It is to occupy the site of the Gerry home on the avenue at Sixty-first street and will shoot up 41 stories. A feature will be the breakfast room on the forty-first floor without a pillar in the room and commanding a marvelous view of the city. The small foyer will be oval shaped with no room for the cigaret wrist tappers or other lobby impedimenta. Pierre is Pierre Casalasco, who came from that part of Corsica that gave Napoleon to the world. He began as a chasseur in the Casino at Monte Carlo and received training in Ritz hotels in London, Paris and New York. He expects eventually to retire to a chalet on the Corniche road overlooking the blue of the Mediterranean.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ARE you possessed with the fear that "something is going to happen"?

Are you afraid to take ordinary chances in any way?

Are you beginning to think often that you are not capable of matching wits or physical prowess with the majority of men?

There was a time when you did not have such fears.

Is it not lack of brain or muscle exercise?

You know that you have not retained your ability in either way.

This has caused you to lose confidence in yourself.

You realize these facts, but you do nothing to get yourself back to your old time form.

Perhaps your age may make it impossible to bring your muscles back to their former elasticity.

But it is hardly probable that you have reached an age where you might not get at least a partial come-back.

Your mind may be incapable of taking in new ideas quickly.

This is the rub. You are too lazy to exercise.
